IBY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There are but two views regarding the Samoan business in Washington tonight. One is that there will be war, and the other is that there will be great difficulty in settling matters without war. These two opinions are not far apart and indicate in their closeness to each other how seriously the situation is looked upon. While this by no means indicates war for a certainty, it does mean that there exists a real war scare here.

What bothers Washington most just now is that when the last dispatches left Apia there existed a terrible bad state of affairs, That was twelve days ago, and no one here can guess what has happened since, though it is pretty safe to say that there has been more disturbances and very likely more blood shed

When the present information left Apia things were getting worse instead of better, which was bad, and which causes grave apprehension. So even the most conservative men make no attempt to conceal their uneasiness about the situation and some fairly conservative men indulge in war talk,

Thus, Representative Hull, of Iowa, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, after talking with the President today, said that there might be war, and further said that the people in the West would not allow the administration to take much back talk from Germany.

Senator Davis, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, talked differently, but there was an undercurrent of apprehension in what he said. When the next news reaches here from Samoa it will better show what the outcome is likely Aside from what has actually happened at Apia, and what may happen in that vicinity, matters are in an extremely bad way. Germany certainly bears no friendship for the United States, nor does the United States admire Germany over much. England and Germany are rivals, and England particularly wants our friendship and an alliance with the United States, England holds, in the present instance, the key to the situation. If she does anything to provoke Germany there will be war, and the United States simply must stand with England on the fighting line. That would mean an alliance which would please England.

In talking with the Times correspondent tonight, a wellinformed gentleman said: "The doings at Apia may provoke war in themselves, or England, by throwing a piece of raw meat into the pen, may bring on war. It is a dangerous

Situation May Yield. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The acute situation in Samoa gave rise to grave apprehension among officials during the early day in Washington, but the conclusion was reached as the departments closed that the situation is one that will yield to sensible and cool treatment if all the parties to the Berlin treaty are sincere in an effort to prevent further trouble.

As put by a cabinet officer, the killing of the sailors has not materially changed the general problem, though it has undoubtedly added to the difficulty of dealing with the specific situation. The only official news received touching the last incident was contained in Admiral Kautz's cablegram. The Secretary of the Navy said that no additional instructions were to be sent by him to the admiral.

The Secretary of State, however, has been told that he is at liberty to forward any instructions to the admiral that he may deem necessary, but that if he concludes to do so he must act immediately, as the mail steamer leaves the nearest cable point

The diplomatic negotiations of the day were not directed particularly formation is too meager thus far to warrant positive official action. There were many inquiries, how ever, and the State Department and the British and German Embassies exchanged such advices as they had on the subject. In the main, the diplomatic negotiations continue to center around the high commission On this subject a breach is gradand Germany, because of the refusal of Great Britain to have the com mission leave San Francisco on the Lawton After the Filipinos, and They Don't Wait to Be Killed, Commissioners Ask Questions of Natives and Others.

WASHINGTON. April 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The following extract from a private letter, dated March eived by a naval officer in Washington from a friend in Manila. It re-lates to Assistant Engineer Emery. Winship of the gunboat Bennington: "Winship did a fine thing this week." says the writer. "A landing party of about 125 from the Bennington went ashore on Malabon in several boats, and a launch remained with Winship and two men as boatkeepers and to watch the stream.

The landing party advanced foolishly. without scouts and precautions, and was suddenly set upon by a regiment of Filipinos. They fied to the beach for the boats, pursued by the natives, and ere hard pressed. Seeing this, Winbow of the launch, and turned it ose upon the pursuers.

"He kept up a deadly fire, and thirty Filipinos were killed or disabled. He stood off the whole gang, enabling our party to get to their boats safely. He then fell, having received five builets, Tausig says that but for Wipship none of the party would have escaped."

Filipino Fleet Stuck in the River. Asking Questions.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT RELORT.]

MANTLA, April 12, 6:50 p.n. Gen. Wheaton has telegraphed to Maj.-Gen. Otls, saying: "They would not wait to be killed." Gen. Lawton is scouring the vicinity of Santa Cruz. He finds the rebels have decamped. He has secured a gun-boat, six launches and two casces, comprising the Filipino fleet. The vessels were stuck in the mud of the river. Gen. Otis has sent a dredge to the spot. The United States Philippine commis-sion is hearing the leading residents of various nationalities, priests and Spaniards, numbers of them appearing vol-untarily, on the subject of the future of the islands.

The questions put to all are:

"Do you believe the Filipinos are ca-pable of self-government in the prov-pable of self-government in the proinces?"

"Do you believe the Filipinos are capable of self-government in the archipelago?"
All of those who have been interrogated, including Filipinos, who sympathize theoretically with independence, have replied to the third question, with remarkable unanimity in the negative.
Independence, they say, would result in chaos, endless tribal wars and European intervention. A few of them think that provincial self-government is practical, but most of them favor self-government in the townships, with self-government in the townships, with a form of American supervision protecting the inhabitants against the peculations and extortions which their experience with the Spanish régime has led to consider the natural requisites of efficial consider the natural requisites of

led to consider the natural requisites of officialdom.

The commercial classes urge the sending of detachments of American troops, each numbering about one hundred men, to take possession of the towns in the southern provinces and in the Visayas-Islands now held by small bands of Tagalos. They declare the natives find the Tagalo oppression worse than Spanish oppression, and that they will welcome the Americans. The case of the inhabitants of Gubat, in the province of Sorsogon is cited as a typical instance. The Spanish taxes amounted to $1,000, but the rebel Tagalos extort $112,000 from the people of Gubat.

rebels were reported to have been concentrated.

During the rest of the day the enemy was in full retreat toward the mountains, burning the villages behind the retreating force. Occasionally a few of the rebels dropped to the rear and fired at the advancing American troops from the jungle, apparently with the idea that this would check our advance and cover the retreat of the Filipinos. But finding these tactics ineffectual, these rebels scrambled after the muln body. The American guard along the railroad has been materially strengthened, and it is not likely the robels will succeed in getting in the future to as close quarters as they did yesterday, even if they return from the meuntains.

MILWAUKEE (Wis.,) April 12.—The LWAUKEE (Wis.,) April 12.—The nail prints the following: ditor Milwaukee Journal.—Dear I am just in receipt of your favor arch 22, in which you say: It is asserted here that many ocrats who voted for McKinley in eld that they have been trifled with the Republicans, and are likely to the Democratic ticket again at the campaign, though they may not be all accord with the platform, and What, in your opinion, would be vise course to pursue in regard to poople? In what way may their liation with the party be best faced?

reaffiliation with the party be best facilitated?

In reply I avould say that I have no authority to speak for the Democratic party and in what I say express my own opinion. I am satisfied that you are correct in saying that many of the Democrats who voted for Mc-Kinley are disappointed with the Republican administration and will vote the Democratic ticket in the future. I know that the same statement could be made in regard to many of those who voted the Palmer and Buckner ticket.

The doors of the party are always open to receive new additions whether they he new converts or former members of the party. To err is human and those who erred in '96 have only to admit it and subscribe to the party creed in order to be taken back into the party. They may dissent from some portions of the platform, as some did in '96, and yet subscribe to the platform as a whole.

'I have found among the Democrats no hostility toward those who wish to return, provided they recognize that the Democratic party now has a platform that is satisfactory to the Democrats. A Democrat who comes back merely for the purpose of fighting against the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform will not find the party congenial. Those who recognized that they erred in '96 are not likely to insist upon prominence in the party management until they have time to bring forth works meet for repentance. If they do aspire to prominence they will have to convince their associates of the sincerity of their purpose to aid the party in its fight against plutocracy.

'The only unwelcome guests are those who deserted in '96 and still claim to be better Democrats than those who remained with the party and who demand the surrender of the Chicago platform as the price of their return. Only chose who are willing to stand upon the last platform ought to have a part in the writing of the next platform.

THEIR TESTIMONY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] WASHINGTON, April 12.—Gen. A. R. Arnold, who was in command of the Second Division of the Seventh Army Corps during the Spanish war, was before the Wade court of inquiry today. He stated that at Jacksonville, Fla. as a rule, the fresh beef was acceptable, but that there was occasional complaints that it was tainted, especially during the hot weather of last summer. These complaints came at times every two or three days. There was also some complaint concerning the potatoes, onions and other food. He did not attribute the sickness of his command to the food supply. He did not remember that Lieut.-Col. Currie of the Second New Jersey had ever made complaint of the food supplied. He had not suspected that the meat was chemically treated. WASHINGTON, April 12.—Gen. A. R. cally treated. Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, who com-cally treated.

Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, who commanded a brigade at Santiago, gave the details of the recent condemnation of canned roast beef at the latter place. He said the canned roast beef had been sent there from other points in the West Indies, for distribution to the Cubans, and that he had distributed probably 1,500,000 pounds of it. He had not heard any complaint about the meat until a few weeks ago, when a newspaper reporter had told him that 10,000 cans had been thrown into the sea because it was bad. He had Immediately reported to Gen. Brooke and mediately reported to Gen. Brooke and asked for inspection. This was ordered, with Gen. Earnest at the head of the board. The board found that out of the with Gen. Earnest at the head of the board. The board found that out of the 800,000 rations remaining on hand about 1 85-100 per cent. was bad. There was a considerable quantity of somatoes and canned fruit which was not good. Gen. Chaffee also testified concerning the meat supply to his command during the Santiago campaign. He believed the refrigerator beef to be perfectly good, but while this was true, the officers and men would not eat it. They rejected it almost wholly as being spoiled. It was generally received in camp by 8 o'clock in the morning and was most generally buried a few minutes after it was retried.

This was due largely, he thought, to the fact that the men were sick. He had remonstrated with them because he thought they would not have it.

As for himself, he kept the meat until the afternoon, and then found it wholesome and sweet.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] I.ONDON, April 12.—[By Atlantic Ca-ble.] The long-heralded "Carnac Sahib," the new play by Henry Arthur Jones, was produced this evening at Her Majesty's theater by Herbert Beer-bohm Tree. It proved a poor melo-drama, beautifully put on, with a succession of pictures of Indian life ac-curate in detail, but on the whole dis-tinctly disappointing, and it was received with unmistakable signs of dis-approval by pit and gallery. Mrs. James Brown Potter, in a variety of Persian costumes, proved the one suc-cess of the play.

on March 29 the enemy was sighted at Maguigl, and machine guns and a seven-pounder were used. The friend-lies also attacked the enemy during the latter's retreat, and several rebels were killed or wounded. The friendlies carried one head through Apia, which made Capt. Stuart so furious that he went to the King and threatened to shoot any man found taking heads. The King then issued a proclamation forbidding the practice.

The German Consul wrote to Admira Kautz asking if two great Christian na-tions approved of this inhuman and barbarious practice against the laws of Christianity and the decree of the of Ohristianity and the decree of the Supreme Court.

The admiral replied, agreeing with the Consul as to the inhumanity of the practice, and pointed out that had the German Consul upheld the decree of the Supreme Court of January, there would have been no bloodshed; that the custom was an old Samoan one, but first made known to the world ten years ago, when the heads of honest German sailors were cut off by the barbarous chief, Mataafa, whom the representative of the great Christian nation, Germany, is now supporting.

Expeditions in armed cutters belonging to the Tauranga and Porpoise are doing considerable execution against Mataafa's strongholds along the coasts. The British forces are being assisted by 100 Samoans. About forty-six of Mataafa's boats and several villages have been destroyed. In the mean time flying columns are being sent daily along the roads and through the bush near Apla.

On April 1, a force of 214 British and ing columns are being sent daily along the roads and through the bush near Apia.

On April 1, a force of 214 British and Americans and 150 friendlies were surprised in ambush at the German plantation of Vastao. The rebel force opened fire on the rear left flank and front of the Anglo-American force. The friendlies bolted, but the marines and blue jackets stood their ground splendidly, Americans and British fring shoulder to shoulder. The Colt automatic gun with the landling party became jammed, and the Americans and British were practically at the mercy of the rebels; but "retreat" was sounded three times before the marines and blue jackets retired.

Lieut. Angel H. Freeman, first lieutenant of the Tauranga, who was in command of the allied force, was shot through the heart. Lieut. Philip L. Lansdale, U.S.N., had his leg shattered while endeavaring to fix the jammed gun. Seaman Hunt of the British ship Porpoise had an extra cap. He remained with Lieut. Lansdale until clubbed over the head and knocked senseless. The blue jackets revived as the natives were cutting off his right ear, and were turning him over in order to cut off his left ear. At this juncture a shell from the British cruiser Royalist burst on the battlefield, scaring the rebels, and Hunt succeeded in escaping to the beach, although severely stabbed in one foot. The samenght the friendiles found the bodies of all the officers headless. The bodies were burled, with all honors at Mulinuu on Easter Sunday. Their heads were subsequently brought in by some French priests, and the graves were reopened and the heads burled with the bodies.

French priests, and the bodies.

Lieuts. Freeman and Lansdale were capable and popular officers. The former was single and the latter was married in June. The officers who returned with Lieut. George E. Cave, of the Porpoise and Lieut. C. M. Perkins of the Philadelphia, all behaved splendidly. Lieut. Cave took command of the retreat. Capt. Sturdee of the Porpoise, was away on the expedition with his cruiser and Gaunt's brigade was also absent on duty. The loss of the enemy is not known, but probably fifty of the rebels were killed and many were wounded. The bodies of three rebels were found near where Lieut. Lansdale and Ensign Monaghan of the Philadelphia were killed. The priests buried thirty-eight rebels, and much blood was seen on the road over which the Mataafans had been dragging away their dead and wounded. There were also pools of blood behind the coccanut trees, the bullets from the American and British rifles going right through the thick trees and killing men hiding behind them. Some of the rebels ifred from the town.

The rebels opened fire near the town last evening. It is proposed to summon another warship to distribute more arms among the friendlies and to import additional friendlies from Tutlieu. It is also suggested that troops might be obtained from New Zealand or Sydney, N. S. W.

If a sufficient quantity of arms could be obtained about 2000 friendlies could be used against the Mataafans. But they are not brave, and have not they are not brave, and have not shown fighting qualities, excepting those with Gaunt's brigade and that force may not accomplish much. Admiral Kautz, Capt. E. White, of the Philadelphia and the American officers generally have earned golden opinions, as have Capts. Stuart and Sturdee of the British navy. They are doing everything possible and everyone recognizes that better men could not be handling the situation. The Samoans say Mataafa on three occasions had resolved to surrender, but the German Consul. Herr Rose, advised him not to do so, and he now says he will never give in, but will fight to the death.

On the 1st of April their combined land forces were ambushed. Seven were wounded and three officers were killed. They were Lieut. Lansdale and Ensign Monaghan of the Philadelphia, and Lieut. Freeman of the Tauranga. The enemy's loss was forty and many were wounded. The Americans Catling gun was captured and disabled by the rebels.

Lansdale was first shot in the leg. Monaghan was shot through the heart while defending a comrade. Hunt, a seaman of the Porpoise, was stunned by a club, but revived after the rebels had cut off one of his ears. A shell from the Royalist burst among them and they ran, enabling Hunt to make his escape. The bodies of the dead men were recovered, but the sailors' ears and the officers' heads had been cut off. They were after ward recovered by French priests and buried with the bodies. Three corpses of rebels were found near Lansdale's body. The priests buried eight others.

There were quantities of blood in the road where the rebels had dragged away their dead and wounded, and poo's of blood were found behind clumps of cocoanut trees. Several thick trees had been penetrated by bullets, killing men behind them. The rebels fired upon our men from the tops of palms. Lansdale, while wounded, shot a Samoan chief.

The secretary of the German Embassy secretary of the day upon Secretary called early in the day upon Secretary Hay. Neither of the officials would disclose anything as to the nature of the exchange that took place. The arrest and retention by the British naval officials of a German subject is one of the most dangerous features of the controversy. It is said that the Consuls of the three powers stationed at Apia claim extra territorial jurisdiction, involving the right to try the subjects of their respective countries for any offenses alleged to have been committed. Under this practice the German Consul, Rose, may demand the surrender of the German. If the man is guilty it is considered improbable that the British will yield, unless upon some adequate guarantee that he is to be sufficiently punished. It is not believed likely that Rose will make such promise. called early in the day upon Secretary likely that Rose will make such promise.

It is believed that Admiral Kautz. with the cooperation of the Eritish, will continue his efforts to bring the rebellious natives to terms. This is not likely to be an easy task, in view of the somewhat small force at his command, but it is said the British governmentmay accept the proposition of the authorities of New Zealand to send a regiment of soldiers to Samoa. No protest thus far has been lodged at the State Department against Admiral Kautz.

protest thus far has been lodged at the State Department against Admiral Kautz.

At the British and German embassies the news of the bloody conflict in Samoa was received with deep content. Sir Julian Pauncefote expresses his profound regret at the collision at a moment when he had hoped the trouble was in a fair way to adjustment. Mr. Eliot, the British High Commissioner to Samoa, also deplored the event. The British officials were quite confident, however, that the chances of a settlement would not be destroyed by this affair, although they might be somewhat embarrassed.

At neither of the embassies had a word of official information been received, and the Associated Press accounts were therefore scanned with great interest. The German Ambassador, Dr. von Holleben, stated that while he was wholly without official advices, he deeply regretted to hear that there had been further loss of life. In all diplomatic quarters, there was a disposition to treat the news as grave, but not as disrupting the plans for a settlement. A sharp difference has developed between the British and German foreign offices as to getting the high commission off for Samoa on the 19th. Lord Salisbury says the commissioners cannot be instructed by telegraph so as to get away on the 19th. The British view is that there is no chance of getting away until next month. The following official German view was given to the Associated Press:

month. The following official German view was given to the Associated Press:

"After Germany and the United States had arrived at such an understanding that the commission—could have left San Francisco on the 19th, England raises new difficulties of such complicated nature that they cannot be dealt with telegraphically.

"Germany feels justified under these circumstances to hold the name of her commissioner still back. The Berlin news that Germany would demand satisfaction for the arbitrary action of Admiral Kautz is not credited in official German circles, and seems to be malicious invention. The whole question of the account of Samoa is pending at present, not between three powers, but between Germany and England."

The President received the Associated Press dispatches from Auckland soon after he entered his office and Secretary Long called with the cablegram from Admiral Kautz. They remained in conference less than half an hour. The Secretary seemed to view the matter with perfect equanimity, and said that no additional force would be sent to Apia, as our present strength there was deemed amply sufficient to meet the situation. The Secretary also said that Admiral Kautz's dispatch contained matters not made public, but they were of no general interest. The tained matters not made public, but they were of no general interest. The dispatch, however, he said, contained no mention of the ambush having been laid on the plantation of a German.

protect her rights, but until all the facts were known it was certain that no aggressive steps would be taken. It was further stated that on the face of the records the German government was not unfriendly to the United States during our war with Spain, and although certain German officials may have shown a pronounced sympathy with the Spaniards, nothing had occurred that could officially be a subject of complaint that had not been promptly disavowed.

Under these circumstances, it is pointed out that the United States will not be disposed to assume in advance of the receipt of full information that the German government is solely responsible for the present disturbed state of affairs at Apla. Members of the Cabinet were not inclined to regard seriously the intimation of some of the German papers that the United States should be required to disavow the acts of Admiral Kautz.

German Treachery Hinted at by the London Press-Choate's View.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

LONDON, April 12.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The dispatches of the Associated Press from Apia, via Auckland, N. Z., were the only news received here of the treacherous attack made by the Mataafans upon the American and British naval forces. They created considerable sensation in official circles and among the general public. The newspapers sent out large placards printed with such startling statements as: "British and American forces routed." "German treachery," etc.

The heroic cenduct of Ensign Monaghan of the Philadelphia particularly appeals to the public. The British Admiralty has received a dispatch from Capt. Stuart, the senior British naval officer in Samoan waters, giving the news of the death of Lieut. Freeman of the British cruiser Tauranga, "In an engagement with the rebels."

Beyond this no further details have been received.

The German Ambassador here County [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

been received.

The German Ambassador here, Count von Hatzfeldt-Weldenburg, first received the news from a representative of the Associated Press. He quickly recognized its importance, and asked permission to make a copy of the dispatch. He said:

"This news is indeed grave, and it is rived. Of course I cannot discuss the particulars given in the dispatch, but the occurrence is certainly very unfortunate."

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "The locality of the engagement, or rather ambush, is stated to have been a German plantation, and there is the unpleasant suggestion that there was treachery on the part of a German subject. The incident apart from the loss of life, is deeply deplorable. The situation was already full of anxiety to the government at home, while on the spot racial feeling runs higher. Though it will be kept well under control, the Cabinets of London. Washington and Berlin could well have been spared this latest development. We may be assured that order will be maintained ashore by the united efforts of the English and American commanders, but even their efforts will not clear the air of the electricity which is fast accumulating at Apia."

The United States Ambassador, Joseph H. Choate, having read the Samoan dispatch, said to a representative of the Associated Press:
"And is German treachery hinted at? I see nothing in this news to warrant for a moment the suggestion that the German government is in any way implicated. Until we know more about the local surroundings it is impossible to express an onlinion. It is safe, however, to say that if will tend to force matters, and doubtless the three governments will take up the question vigorously, and, instead of the occurrence causing delay, it may accelerate definite understanding."

BRITISH OFFICIALS ANNOYED.

LONDON, April 12.—The outbreak in LONDON, April 12.—The outbreak in Samoa, just when the powers had agreed upon the appointment of a commission to settle the difficulties there, has caused great annoyance and disappointment at the Foreign Office here, where it is regarded as making the already scolous complications still graver. While they have difficulty in expressing a definite opinion upon the fresh developments, it is acknowledged by Foreign Office officials that there has been hasty action on the part of German Consul Rose, for, although he may have many technical reasons for the part he played in behalf of the German interests, it is asserted that he has been the prime cause of the fresh outbreak which, it is added, will necessarily greatly embarrass the endeavors for peace.

Cable. I The correspondent here of the Associated Press has had an interview with a Foreign Office official, who is authorized to speak for the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Baron von Buelow. He said:

"We have received several official dispatches saying that the Tanu people for a fortnight past have been raiding and pillaging eround Apla, destroying mainly German property. They are armed with weapons furnished by the British.

"We also received today a dispatch from the commander of the Falke, confirming the ambuscade and loss of the Americans and English, substantiating wholly the dispatch of the Associated Press. The ambuscade may possibly have been on a German plantation, as nearly all the property around Apla is German. The government regrets extremely the occurrence, for which, however, it is in no way to blame. Such hostile encounters must naturally be expected when the Anglo-American action in crowning Tanu has made nine-tenths of the Samoans their enemies. It shows strongly how necessary is the prompt departure of the commission with adequately full instructions.

"Although the German commissioner has not been formally appointed, he is ready to start for Samoa within half an hour after the three governments clearly define the mode of operations, and the powers of the commission. Why does England needlessly delay agreeing? It is the only way to prevent ceaseless bloodshed in Samoa. Unless the commission starts soon such encounters may occur any day.

"Of course, now that fresh blood has been spilled, the excitement of the Americans and British may increase. But Germany is blameless. The same thing happened to our men in 1888. The Samoans also cut off the heads of the German victims then. That is one of the Samoans' pleasant habits. If Admiral Kautz had the power to reestablish peace, all might be well. But he needs a much stronger force than now available under his and the British command at Apla, to subdue Mataafa and his warlike hosts."

The correspondent of the Associated Press, also, saw United State Representative Hull of Iowa, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee. was also one of the President's visitors. He said:

"This government will not undertake to discredit our men there unless it is shown clearly that they are in the wrong. If Germany insists in her present course, there may be war. I do not believe this administration will allow Germany to run this government, as she seems to be trying to do now. In my section of the country the feeling had been strong against Germany for six months. The people believe that she was hostile to us in the war with Spain. The people are in such temper that they will not permit any trifling or hedging on the part of the United States. If there should be wer' I do not believe that all the European countries could or would stand against Great Britain and the United States."

Senator Thurston said it would be pretty hard for three of the most enlightened nations of the earth to have war over a few little islands, which are of no consequence. He considered the situation as somewhat grave. Senator Stewart said: "Does Germany want to fight? If so, she may be accommodated. We are a peaceful people, but we won't permit others to go around with chips on their shoulders."

Americans killed and five American sailors wounded, with two English-sailors wounded. The purport of the German dispatch is not known. It reached here about 8 o'clock and took an hour and a half to decipher.

The dispatch to the British embassy was in the main a confirmation of facts given in the Associated Press dispatch. It was conservative in tone and announced at the outset that a collision had occurred on a plantation near Apia between the native forces and a combined American and English detachment. One point of significance to the embassy was the fact that it apparently contradicted a published report of a large number of casualties on the side of the joint American-English forces. Another important point was that it announced only one British officer killed.

The action of Great Britain in ordering two more warships to Samoa attracted considerable attention here, and it was stated that if the British ships are so reinforced Germany would take similar steps and augment her naval representation in those waters to meet any possible contingency. So far, however, no action looking to reinforcements of the United States naval forces has been taken.

Secretary Long was informed of Great Britain's action late tonight, but said it was his belief that there was adequate representation of the United States there now, and that no more vessels would be dispatched to Samoa unless further important developments occur. The Philadelphia, he said, with the two British ships, were fully able to cope with the situation in the present light of events. Admiral Kautz hanot requested any reinforcements, and his recommendation under ordinary circumstances would be awaited. Defense Disappointed Because All the Books and Papers Were Not the Proceedings.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] PHILADELPHIA, April 12.-Ex-Quay gained a partial advan-court today by the apparent refusal of Judge Biddle, for the presast, to admit as evidence he famous "red book," which has figured so prominently in the trial and which is alleged to contain the key to the case of the commonwealth. This book was found in the desk of Cashier Hopkins of the People's Bank after the institution had closed its doors and that individual had taken his own life. It is an ordinary day book, twelve pages of which are de-voted to what the prosecution claims to be Hopkins's record of his transactions in money deposited by the State Treasurer for the advantage of ex-Senator Quay.

It contains entries extending over several years, and figures are written calculation of interest on sums of money approximating the State de-posit, less certain deductions for the money approximating the State deposit, less certain deductions for the benefit of ex-Senator Quay. These figures, the prosecution alleges, were "posted" from the "red book" to the regular register of the bank containing Quay's account. In passing upon the question of the admissibility of the red book, Judge Biddle said:

"It does not strike me that knowledge of the book has been brought home to Quay. It was not found among the books of the bank at all. It was found in a drawer, not in the ordinary shape in which books of a public institution are kept, but crowded in with a sort of rubbish, and an investigation of that book revealed these figures. I am not sails field therefore that this book has been made competent evidence against ex-Senator Quay."

This decision was part of an oral opinion by the Judge, in which be established the point that the regular books of the bank were admissible as testimony. Dist.-Atty. Rothermel quickly saw the advantage the latter part of the opinion placed him in, and he sprang to his feet to assure the court that he had argued for the admission of the "red book," and had not formally offered it in evidence, and might not find it necessary to make such offer. Judge Biddle replied that he had understood the argument of yesterday, and this morning to be on the admission of all the books and papers, but in view of Rothermel's statement he would withhold his decision on this book until it is regularly offered, and the question argued.

Counsel for Quay, seeing their advantage, insisted that they had included the "red book" in their argument against the admission of the books, but the judge dismissed the matter for the present. The commonwealth contends that although the "red book" was kept by Cashier Hopkins in a separate compartment, away from the eyes of the other employes, it was necessarily a part of the book-keeping system of the bank, and it will have to be admitted to corroborate and explain entries in ex-Senator Quay's account in the ledger. The lawyers for the defense were evidently disappointed at their failure to secure the exclusion of all of the books of the banks, and thus practically destroy the case of the prosecution. It has been understood that Lawyer Watson's presence in the case was the nurness of making the fight

It has been understood that Lawyer Watson's presence in the case was for the purpose of making the fight against the books. All evidence practically against ex-Senator Quay is occumentary, in the shape of letters and book entries and the attitude of his counsel has clearly indicated a purpose to fight to the bitter end against the introduction of such evidence. Their failure in this respect was not complete, however, as they have apparently secured the exclusion of the vital evidence contained in the little memorandum book, known for purposes of evidence contained in the little memorandum book, known for purposes of identification as the "red book," which gains its title from the fact that the computations of interest in it were made in red nk by Hopkins. They were successful in the effort to keep out the letters and the telegrams writter by ex-Senator Quay to Hopkins directing him to make certain transactions in ing him to make certain transa-tions in stocks. These were all made public at the time of ex-Senator Quay's preliminary hearing in October last.

The letters are in ex-Senator Quay's handwriting, with one or two exceptions.

THIRD DAY'S PROCEEDINGS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] PHILADELPHIA (Pa..) April 12.— Vhen court opened for the third day f the trial of ex-Senator Quay, there were indications on all sides that th crucial point in the whole proceeding had been reached, namely the question of the admission of the books of the of the admission of the books of the People's Bank as evidence, and especially those documents found in the private desk of Cashier Hopkins. The argument made yesterday by David T Watson of counsel for Quay, in opposition to their admission, generally and specifically, to the private letters written by Quay to Hopkins, which were identified by Teller Tabor, was the subject uppermost in the public mind.

the subject uppermost in the public mind.

A decision in favor of the defense virtually means the collapse of the virtually means the collapse of the trial while the admission of the books may prove a serious blow to the defendant. The latter, accompanied, by his son. Richard, reached the courtroom ten minutes before the opening. Sand before any of his counsel. He gave no visible sign that he was at all disturbed by the question about to be determined by the court. Judge Biddle took his seat promptly at 10 o'clock, and Dist.-Atty. Rothermel began his reply to Watson, urging the admission of the books of, the bank. His first point was that all manner of criminal charges are established and proven by circumstantial evidence, the crime of conspiracy being frequently proven in this way.

Rothermel bore strongly on the continued payment of interest on the commonwealth's deposit in the People's Bank to ex-Senator Quay. He offered to prove by letters and telegrams that Quay was borrowing money from the bank for the purchase of stock and that he paid no interest on these moneys. This continued loaning of money. Rothermel contended, was in furtherance of the conspiracy between Cashier Hopkins, State Treasurer Haywood and ex-Senator Quay. He first took up the period for six months ending October, 1827, when the commonwealth's deposits varied from $525,000 to $565,000. During this time, he said. Quay had a loan of $185,000 and paid no interest. He proposed to show by the writing in one of the books, the new famous "red book," that Hopkins had carefully computed interest on the deposit not used by Quay, which interest was divided into three parts, two of which were deposited respectively to the credit of Hayrood and Quay, the remaining part going, all was alleged, to C. H. Mokee of Pittsburgh. He proposed to show the very scheme, he said which was adopted to conceal the operation from the lother clerks of the bank.

which was addited to the care to bank.

Following this he quoted a number of opinions on the subject of conspiring and the manner in which it may be proved. He combatted the contention of the defense that the statute of limitations barred much of the matter charged against Quay, quoting the Supreme Court to show that a chain of circumstances and transactions extending back indefinitely might be used to secure a conviction, notwithstanding the statute limiting the prosecution from the acts committed within two years. Judge Biddle decided that the books of the bank are admissible as evidence. He stated that he was not satisfied, however, that the "red book" was proper evidence against the Senator, since it was not found among the regular bank books. It has not yet been regularly offered in evidence and the question of admissibility will be decided when it is presented.

Rothermel read the letters which were written to Hopkins by Quay, and which have been printed, giving instructions how to proceed in certain stock transactions, and requesting him, in some instances, to obtain the money necessary to purchase other stocks. To each of these letters the defense formally objected, on the ground that they are irrelevant under the indict ment. The objection was overruled, and an exception noted in each instance.

Arguments between counsel followed the offering of the latter dated July 13. 1896, from State Treasurer Haywood to President McManes of the bank, and 1896, from State Treasurer Haywood to President McManes of the bank, and found in Hopkins's desk, the defense objecting on the ground that Haywood was dead and was not a defendant, and that it was inadmissible because of the statute of limitations.

The letter in question advises the bank that upon granting a loan of $100.000 to Richard R. Quay, the State deposit will be increased from $500.000 to Richard R. Quay, the State deposit will be increased from $500.000 to 8600.000, and not reduced until the Quay debt is paid. Accompanying the letter is a note for $100.000, signed by State Senator Arthur Kennedy and Richard R. Quay, and indorsed by exsenator Quay, and indorsed by exsenator Quay, and Rothermel proposed to show from the minute book of the bank that the directors agreed to make the loan upon the prospects of a certain letter from Haywood, the letter being the one in question. Rothermel said the note was not paid until after the failure of the bank, in 1898. The judge admitted the letter.

George S. Graham, who was District Attorney when the prosecution was first brought against Quay, was the next witness. He identified two telegrams sent by Quay to Hopkins, which he said, Quay admitted he sent to the cashier. One of these is the 'plum tree' telegram. Quay's lawyers objected to their admission.

Albert L. Tabor, teller of the bank, identified 217 of the bank's books, which are in evidence.

The District Attorney next endeavored to induce the defense to admit that certain books in another room, day books, ledgers, minute books, etc., were books of the bank.

Counsel for the defense said: "We will admit nothing." and insisted on the commonwealth proving each separate book.

Judge Biddle endeavored to have counsel reach some amicable agreement, and thus avoid the necessity of bringing the books into the courtroom and proving the entries in each book.

Counsel could not agree on a sat-isfactory plan, and after half an hour of fruitless argument, the District At-torney ordered the books brought into Rothermel said he would show that October 1, 1897, Quay was indebted the bank as indorser for his son the sum of $100.000, and how that debt was created. He would show that the board of directors agreed to dis-count that note provided a certain let-ter was obtained from State Treasurer Haywood.

ter was obtained from State Treasurer Haywood, guaranteeing the deposit of an equal amount. Rothermel said he would prove that Haywood received interest on that $100,000.

On that question of the books not being competent evidence because entries in them involving ex-Senator Quay were made by third parties. Rothermel maintained that all such entries made contemporaneous with the acts to which they related can be admitted as circumstantial evidence. All the entries were made by clerks under the direction of Cashier Hopkins, and were therefore practically made by him from figures entered by Hopkins in the "red book."

Hopkins acted, Rothermel said, virtually under the direction and check of ex-Senator Quay and be because

WORK ON THE SHAMROCK.

Expected to Be Ready for Launching

BOSTON, April 12.—A dispatch to the Herald from Gourock, Scotland, says that the work on the Shamrock has that the work on the Shamrock has advanced far enough to need the servces of detectives, who are now the sub-ect of ridicule for recent action, as witness the taking into custody of some actors, supposed to be dimension-seek-ers. The challenger will have a steel oom 221/2 inches in the slings and 115 feet long. A steel mast is also made, and this will be tested on the Clyde in and this will be tested on the Clyde in the preliminary trials, when good tests will be made. It may be used in the races, though in case it proves too rigid, and will not give and is liable to pull out the chain plates, the wooden mast will be used. The challenger will have a very large sail plan, quite 13,000 square feet in working sails, with nearly eighty-five feet from deck to hounds. Fife's Fairlee carpenters are now at Chiswick making the hollow spars. The carpenters have been working four weeks on the hollow spars, such as extra club poles, extra gaff and extra spinnaker poles. There will be duplicate full sets of steel spars also made. Sir Thomas Tipton has told the workmen in case no information leaks out he will make them substantial presents.

The Shamrock is building in a corrugated-iron shed and for the last week has been guarded by detectives both day and night. Outside the works at the gate entrance a sort of eaves-droppers are also on guard, some of them being worn-out dare-devils. The chalthe gate entrance a sort of eaves-drop-pers are also on guard, some of them being worn-out dare-devils. The chal-lenger will not be far off in her di-mensions from the new defender, and this is shown by the few tons difference in the lead ballast which is in their respective keels. Two suits of sails are already made, and these will be tried out on this side. The steam yacht Erin, which is to convox the Shampeck Erin, which is to convoy the Shamrock, will take a large number of sail-makers and carpenters. Sir Thomas Tipton intends making a big affair of the cup races, for, besides the friends who will accompany him from this side, hundreds of invitations will be sent out to American friends, who will be his guests on board one of your large pleasure steamers. While in Scotland last year Sir Thomas Tipton in scotland last year Sir Thomas Tipton extended a number of invitations to friends to be present at the launching. These have been recalled. The challenger will be launched about 'the middle of May, and if report is true she will be blanketed like a Derby winner. will be blanketed like a Derby winner from keel to deck when she slides down the ways. Sir Thomas Tipton is very confident of winning. In fact the rumor here is that the big yacht which Wat-son is designing for C. D. Herkins acted. Rothermel said, virtually under the direction and check of ex-Senator Quay, and the books of the bank therefore became, for the bank therefore became, for the buryose of proof of conspiracy, the books of Quay hmself.

Watson, of Quay's counsel, replied briefly to the District Attorney's argument, in the main reiterating his propositions of yesterday. Books, followed by the evidence of individuals, Watson admitted, are allowable as evidence, but books in themselves are not prooper testimony. If money was haid by any man to Quay, put the man on the stand and let him say so, but the acts and declarations of third for Hopkins's crime.

The testimony of a coconspirator is necessary, he contended, to convict a man of the charge of conspiracy, Books are not ecconspirators. All the entries, he said, constituted evidence of what Hopkins did not what Quay did. Proof of a conspiracy between the various State treasuries from 1886 to 1893 and Hopkins was not proof of a crime committed by Quay and could not be urged as such.

Albert Tabor, the receiving teller of the bank, was recalled for the purpose of identifying the entries in the bankbook. The apparent hopelessness of reaching the end of the testimony of this sort led both fudge and counsel again to make an effort to adjust matters. After half an hour's discussion the District Attorney's usgested an adournment until tomorrow. In the mean time, he said, he would conferwith the counsel for the defense, and both sides would come prepared to so shead on some definite plan.

Court then adjourned at 2:40 o'clock until 10 o'clock a.m. tomorrow.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SEATTLE (Wash..) April 12.—Pros-pectors who arrived today from Alaska pring news that there are at least four hundred prospectors on the Edmonton trail between Dease Lake and Hudson Bay post on the Laird River, most of whom are in destitute circumstances. These men have been working along the trail for over a year, finding little gold, and their money having been exhausted, they are without the means of obtaining supplies. Many of the men es aid to be suffering from scruvy and frost bites. The sick cannot receive proper medical attendance and many are dying. hundred prospectors on the Edmontor proper mental attendance and many are dying.

J. H. McGregor brought with him an appeal to the authorities of British Columbia, asking that help be sent to relieve the sufferers. There are about a dozen cases of scurvy in the hospital at Glenora, and several dozen on the trail between Atlin and Glenora.

THAT MURDOCK NOTE.

An Old Settler Gives Startling Testimony-Tells What He Heard. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WILLOWS, April 12.-In the Murdoch suit to recover judgment on a note for $100,000, the testimony of Gawn Murdock, the husband of plaintiff, was concluded this afternoon, and was not shaken in the lengthy cross-examina tion by Gen. Barnes. The transactions between the father of the witness. Sam Murdock, and William Murdock Sam Murdock, and William Murdock were fully gone into, and witness testified that at Sacramento with his wife in 1890, he met one L. S. Megginson at the pavilion. His wife introduced Megginson, who spoke of the note, and said he would loan money on it if it was good. Witness remarked that William Murdock was there. They found William and introduced Megginson. William there said the note was good and that he would pay it when due.

T. J. Kirkpatrick, an old settler living near Murdock's place, was called. His testimony was quite startling. He said he had heard William and Sam talking of the note, William was trying to get Sam to reduce the rate of interest on the note. He said Sam, who could not write, asked the witness o draw up an affidavit as to his business transactions with William, so his randsons would be protected. The affidavit was produced and identified. It enumerated the loans made by Sam to William, and said that the note covering the full amount of the indebtaches had been given Mary Helen Murdock for the benefit of her children. Kirkpatrick witnessed the affidavit as Justice of the Pgace. Cross-examination did not shake the testimony. Mrs. Murdock, the plaintiff, was called, but Gen. Barnes for defense objected to her testifying. The point will be argued tomorrow morning.

DEATH DUE TO ACCIDENT.

Defective Gas Burner Ended All for Druggist Gates of Folsom. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—The ody of A. L. Gates, the druggist at the Folsom penitentiary, was found in a room at the Lick House today. The room was filled with gas from a de-fective burner. The body was found still warm when the discovery was made, but restoration was impossi-ble.

Shortly after the discovery was made Gatess flancée called at the hotel, only to find her Tover dead. As death was clearly accidental the Coróner permitted the body to be removed to an undertaker's establishment.

Neall Court-martial.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—The Neall courtmartial was resumed today. Damaging evidence against the accused was given by Lieut. Harris, who stated that Neall had tried ta deceive him in the matter of some post dividends. Neall had represented to Harris that he could not turn over certain checks without the proper indorsement of Mrs. Nolan, the executor of the estate of Lieut. Nolan, and left to her by deceased, to be turned over $0 Neall. This check did not aggregate $200, while the amount responsible for by Neall was several thousand dollars, and Lieut. Harris, when asked by counsel for defense, stated that the holding out of the difference in the sums on such trivial grounds, was an act of great deception.

Grain Case Stay Shortened.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—Attorney E. S. Pillsbury, representing the Southern Pacific Company, appeared in the United States Circuit Court this morning and made objection to the ruling made yesterday by Judge Morrow that the grain cases go over for four months. Pillsbury said that he had not been notified that the matter was to be heard yesterday, and if he had been he would have entered an objection to the proceedings. He was in favor of hurrying the matter, he said. The stay of four months was changed to May 4, by Judge Morrow, who said the order had been improvidently made. The petition for another stay will be made at that date.

OVERWORKED WOMEN.

Letters to Mrs. Pinkham From Women Who Have Been Helped From Sickness to Health.

The ordinary every-day life of most of our women is a ceaseless treadmill of work. How much harder the daily tasks become when some derangement of the female organs makes every movement painful and keeps the nervous system unstrung!

The following letter from Mrs. WALTER S. BANTA, Sparkill, N. Y., tells the story of many women, and shows them how to get relief:
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot thank you enough for all Lydis E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound hasdone for me. When I wrote to you I had suffered for years with falling, inflammation and ulceration of the womb; my back ached, and I was so much distressed I could scarcely walk. I was a burden to myself and did not care whether I lived or died.

"I have taken five bottles of your medicine and it has done wonders for me as all my friends can testify. I can now do my own work, and do not know how to express my gratitude to you for the good your medicine and advice have done me. I owe my life to Mrs. Mrs. Pinkham's counselisoffered free to all women who need advice about their health. Her address is Lynn, Mass. Mrs. P. H. HUTCHCROFT, Kellerton, Iowa, tells here in her own words how Mrs. Pinkham helped her: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:- I was in a very bad condition before I wrote to you and began the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did not know what to do. I suffered terribly every month, when on my feet would have such a bearing down feeling, was very weak, womb was swollen, back ached, appetite was very poor, also had trouble with my head. I have taken several bottles of your Compound and cannot say enough in its favor. It helped more than all the doctor rheumatism in my arm and shoulder.

I tried numerous remedles, but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. George F. Parsons & Co., druggists, of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it so highly that I bought a fused to make complaint, and actually interceded for Templeton, and no arrest was made. With a solemn warning to Cummings to cough no more, Templeton went his way.

Templeton which isn't his true name—now writes to The Times:

"Cummings, the cougher, is well of his cough. He was cured by local application of medicine for the mind. Not a single cougher, sneezer or table-drummer was present in the library last night. Mrs. Wadleigh had thought these fellows were absentminded innocents, when, as a matter of fact. I know they are all microscopic banditti, spiteful society outcasts. Self-embarrassment will keep away one with a legitimate cough."

In the next pamphlet prepared by the Chamber of Commerce to advertise the climate, this mey appear: "Health-seekers, attention! If you have coughs, come to Los Angeles, see Templeton, the Kicker, and be cured. Testimonials mailed on application to trustees of the public library."

A few days ago Templeton made complaint of the coughers who infest the public library, and as no ettention was given to his kick verbal, he resolved to try the efficacy of the kick pedal. One Cummings had a specially annoying cough, and when he left the library, Templeton followed him downstairs and subjected him to sudden and swift pedipulation. A policeman took both men to the station, but the forgiving cougher refused to make complaint, and actually fused to make complaint, and actually interceded for Templeton, and no arrest was made. It's lose a little now or lose lots more later on when the workmen are sure to damage the goods. We wouldn't have bought such immense quantities of spring goods it we had expected to be in the fix we're in now.

We bought heavier for we expected to have more selling space. We've now actually no place to put these goods where they would not be exposed to damage by the laborers—thus this fearful and seemingly reckless price cutting in order to quickly move them out of the way.

T. J. McCormack I am very thankful for your kindness, which, like your remedy, surpassed my expectations. I feel like another man entirely, thanks to your Hudyan. I can eat, sleep and work and have no pain whatever in my lungs now. Hudyan is a splendid medicine.

Yours truly T. J. McCORMACK.

H. C. Hughes It is my duty to do all I can for you, since your medicine has surely saved my life. I came down here in order to find relief from that dread lung trouble, but it was to no purpose. I failed gradually and surely until I began taking your Hudyan. I could notice an effect in the first two weeks of Hudyan, so I kept right on with it until now I can say that it has cured me. Have no cough now and have gained 80 pounds in weight

H. C. HUGHES.

Fort Worth, Texas, Mrs. Frank Johnson I am well pleased with the result of Hudyan in my case, for I have gained in weight and strength and have not spit up any blood in over two months time. All soreness has left my lungs and I have reason to think that I am entirely cured. Six months ago I did not think that I would live to see 1899, but I now feel that I shall live many years more. MRS. FRANK JOHNSON. Salt Lake City, Utah.

Chas. Lund
Indorses Hudyan.

I feel remarkably well and my friends tell me that I don't look as if I had ever been sick. Am gaining in weight right along and have been at work now for five weeks. Lung trouble is a serious disease, but not so much so since your Hudyan has been along within the reach of everyone.

CHAS, LUND. placed within the reach of everyone. CHAS. LUND. Red Cliff, Colo, Miss Carrie Watson I am not much of a hand to write letters, but I do so much want to tell you that your splendid medicine Hudyan has cured me. I had La Grippe several months ago and it left me with weak lungs. My strength gradually left me, and I was a walking skeleton. I took your Hudyan medicine carefully as directed, and am gratified to tell you that I am now well and strong again.

HOME STUDY CIRCLE.

What Bishop Montgomery and High School Teachers Think of It.

Bishop Montgomery of the Catholic Church said yesterday of The Times Home Study Circle: "The idea seems very good, for those who can profit by it, and something of the kind is very desirable. If it could cultivate a taste for that class of literature it would be a great thing for any newspaper to accomplish. The value of the series depends very much on who the writers are. Take-the subject of history, for instance. It has been my experience that very much of socialled history is a study in which fiction may be very readily substituted for facts. We often find evidences of that in accepted historical works. That is really the only objection that anybody could raise to such a course of study, and the names which The Times publishes as those of contributors to the series of articles ought to warrant the hope that that objection will not be found in their work. I have often thought that it would be a good thing if the press would create a taste for wholesome literature in place of the sensational matter which has a tendency to vitiate literary taste."

Mrs. Margaret J. Frick, vice-principal of the High School and teacher of English literature, said yesterday

Mrs. Margaret J. Frick, vice-principal of the High School and teacher of English literature, said yesterday that she has asked the members of her classes to cut out all the articles contained in the series and keep them as aids in their work, which she considered her best testimonial of her appreciation of the work of The Times in this respect.

The Saxon war was the greatest of the Huns.

The Saxon war was the greatest of the Huns.

The other wars were merely episodes: this was continuous for thirty-two years. The Saxons dwelt in the country to the northeast of the Franks. The boundaries were fill-defined, and the nations were constantly engaged in strife. The Saxons were still heathens, and were less advanced in civilization than the Franks. Their land was covered with woods and morasses. There were no towns and the inhabitants were not united under a single chief. When defeated they fied to the woods and swamps, where it was practically impossible to follow them. From these retreats petty chieftains constantly led depredating bands against the Frankish settlers on the borders, driving off their cattle and burning their dwellings. The Franks retaliated whenever it was possible, and the conditions were similar to those in the borderland hetween England and Scotland later.

Charlemagne felt it necessary to reduce the Saxons to submission, and hetween England and Scotland later.

But the other Saxons less elimited thorous stinction is stratively and the strife they have been constantly less and they have been constantly less and they have been constantl made by the defeated and renewed the strife. They fought with desperate bravery and command our admiration. The Franks suffered severely, and considered their enemies treacherous and barbarous. In 782 Charlemagne was so exasperated by the constant revolts that he determined to strike terror into the Saxons by a memorable example. He ordered 4500 prisoners slaughtered in cold blood at Verden. This is the greatest blot on his character. And it proved to be entirely useless. The Saxons rushed to arms to avenge the slain. The war went on for over twenty years longer. Finally Charlemagne adopted the policy of planting Frankish colonies throughout the Saxon lands, and of deporting thousands of the defeated to dwell at different noints in his kingdom. Some were sent to Flanders, and this gave rise to the mediaeval proverb that of one devil Charlemagne made two. All the Saxons were forced to become Christians, and Saxony became a part of the empire.

THE GREATNESS OF CHARLE-MAGNE.

Charlemagne ruled for forty-five years and was universally respected by his subjects. Distant rulers recogby his subjects. Distant rulers recog-nized his greatness and sought his friendship. Alphonso II of Spain and the King of the Scots saluted him as their lord. Three emperors of Con-stantinopie sought his ailiance. Haroun-al-Raschid, the hero of the "Arabian Nights," entered into friendly relations with him, and sent him an elephant. Abdul-Abbes. The travels of the latter are recorded at great length in the meager chronicles of the time. A camel had previously been seen in the land of the Franks, but this seems to have been the first elephant.

Charlemagne was once crowned with the crown known as "the 'iron crown." What was this 'iron crown?" To what nation or people did it originally helong? From what sacred object was the iron in it said to have come? In what church was it kept for centuries? What great monarch were it in the sixteenth century? Who was that celebrated monarch of recent time who, when crowned with it, said: "God has given it to me: woe to him who touches it?" In whose possession is the "iron crown" today?

THE SAMOAN DIFFICULTY.

This morning's dispatches bring de-tailed accounts of fighting near Apia Samoa in which English and Ameriican blue-jackets were opposed by overwhelming numbers of native Sa moans under the standard of Mataafa. the would-be King of Samoa. Americans and the English fought side by side with characteristic heroism against great odds, and though obliged | tion, in order that the lowest rate conto retire, they inflicted, before doing so, a far greater loss upon the natives than they themselves suffered. Two American officers, one English officer and four marines were killed, while the less of the Mataa ans was about trouble was over the recent seating of Tanu on the throne of Samoa, which gave rise to a rebellion on the part of the adherents of Mataafa, the other aspirant for kingly honors. The Germans are supporting Mataafa, while the Americans and the English support Tanu.

Of late there has been some friction because of the rivalries and jealousies of the native chiefs, and a lack of unanimity between the respective representatives of the tripartite protectorate. #### POVERTY AND RICHES.

In discussing the accumulation wealth in this country, many critics of a pessimistic turn of mind es pecially those who belong to the Pop ulist persuasion, would have us be lieve that an entirely new condition of affairs has been brought about, and that, relatively, the condition of the rich and the poor has changed entirely during the past half century.

It is true that there are now large fortunes which were undreamed of fifty, or even twenty-five years ago, but on the other hand, we should not lose sight of the fact that the laboring man today enjoys many comforts and luxuries which could not be ob tained by the millionaire in middle years of the century. In those days, boys and girls from five to twenty years of age frequently went to school barefoot, except in the winter months. Only a few people in a town were able to afford the luxury of "store clothes," or ready-made clothing. Carpets were a luxury reserved for the rich, and the ownership of a piano conferred a distinct mark of gentility upon its fortunate possessor. The American Cultivator, referring to those times, says:

Those were the days when farmers began work as early as they could see in the morning and kept at it until dark, or in the long days very nearly eight hours in the forencon and eight hours in the afternoon, and boys were expected to work two or three hours in the field or shop every night and morning while they were attend ing school. Then the hired man worked as long as his employer, and was glad to accept 50 to 75 cents as compensation for a day's work. Then the farmers in the Genesee Valley of New York, or those in the far West of Ohio and Michigan, sowed their wheat by hand, reaped it with a sickle, thrashed it out with a flail, and drev miles to market to obtain 50 cents bushel for it, while the mechanics of Massachusetts, often earning less than a dollar a day, paid $8 to $9 a barrel for their flour."

What a howl would go up if the laboring men of today were forced to face such a condition of affairs. When we talk about those "good old times," we should have a clear comprehension of what the conditions ting plant, consisting of wires and They look very romantic from a distance, but few of us would care to undergo such privations again.

While it is true that the rich are rapidly growing richer, it does not necessarily follow that the poor are growing poorer? A careful and candid investigation of the facts will not bear out that claim.

The true meaning of the Harbor Jubilee and festival should not be lost sight of. It is not a local, but essentially a general celebration. Certainly that is the aim of the projectors. The event is one of vital in-terest to the whole State, but especially to the southern section. And such it should be participated in by all who favor the advancement of the true interests of the State.

The success of the Jubilee means a great deal to our people. Success in that event will greatly accelerate the Angeles not only a great commercial center, but also a great seaport. As such the city was destined by nature. but the work of nature must be supplemented by the work of man. Thus it is that nature trains her legatees. The meaning of this Jubilee is fraught with great and important results to our people. Success at this event may become a star of hope and guidance for the young and progressive southern metropolis. The reflection of that event may be mirrored in the crystal waters of many seas Great ships bearing the richest products of the land, ave, ships with turreted walls bearing Old Glory at their masthead, clearing at the port of San Pedro, may become exponents of the rise and progress of the city in all lands. And such may be the reflection of the notable event which will he celebrated within the next few days.

The success of the Jubilee will re dound to the benefit of the whole people, not to any one section. And to that success every section should contribute its hearty, loyal support.

The beef packers of Chicago appear be on the horns of a dilemma, as were. They claim in their advertisements that the extract of beef which they sell contains the essence of nourishment in the animal. Or the other hand, it is admitted that the so-called "canned roast beef" furnished to the troops in Cuba was composed of the beef after the essence had been extracted from it. It is easy to see that either the essence of the stuff supplied to the soldiers was of little or no food value. The packers may wriggle around, but cannot get away from this view of the question. But many world, and the result is a rare treat to the mind.

PUBLIC BATHS.

A visitor to Santa Barbara ently expressed surprise to the editor of a local paper that Santa Barbara is not provided with a first-class public bathhouse. Santa Barbara is by no means the only city in Southern California of which this may said. Even in Los Angeles, a city of 115,000 population, located in a climate where bathing may be enjoyed almost every day in the year, we have not a public bathhouse of any centy, a small swimming bath near the City Hall, to which an admission fee was charged, but that is now

In any case, however, we should be gin with having a first-class fresh water bathing establishment. less enterprising cities than Los Angeles are noted for their facilities in this respect, and derive much fame and revenue therefrom. Salt Lake. with which Los Angeles hopes soon to be in direct railway communication, is noted all over the country for its two magnificent bathing places Garfield and Saltair beach. The lastnamed place has magnificent bathhouses, which are visited by many thousands of people every week, many of them coming from long distances on account of the bathing facilities. Las Vegas, in New Mexico, is noted for its fine bathhouse. So is Glenwood Springs, on the Rio Grande Railroad. Even the out-of-the-way town of Boise, in Idaho, has a handsome natatorium, owned by the local water company, with a fine swimming bath, 150 feet long; also tub and vapor baths. Nearer home, the Sutro baths, in San Francisco, are celebrated all over the country. On the other side of the water, London has many baths which are open to the public at nominal prices, ranging from 2 cents up. Paris has many magnificent baths, including floating establishments on the Seine. It was recently suggested that bathhouses should be erected in some of the Los Angeles parks. That may be a good idea, as a beginning. In any case steps should be taken to remove Los Angeles from the list of cities which do not possess a public bathhouse.

In the death of Col. John O. Wheeler Los Angeles has lost a familiar figure from its streets, and the State has been bereft of a sterling citizen. Col. Wheeler saw this metropolis develop to its present proportions from a pueblo of Mexican adobes, and was for years a part of the official life of this section of California. He was a gentleman of the old school of courtliness and dignity, and his death will be heard of with regret by hundreds of the early residents of the

IAN MACLAREN HERE.

THE WIDELY KNOWN AND LOVED AUTHOR GIVES TWO TALKS.

Tells of the Traits of His Co men. of the Noble Simplicity of Their Home Life, and Illustrates With Scenes From His Books.

Last night, when requested to intro duce to the people of Los Angeles the well-beloved "Ian Maclaren," Rev. Burt Estes Howard struck the keynote of feeling throughout the entire audience by declining to attempt the impossible. To no man, he said, was given the privilege of introducing "Ian Maclaren" to American people. The Rev. Dr. John Watson of Sefton Park Church, Liverpool, stood before them for the first time, but it was not Dr. Watson they had come to see and hear; it was "Ian Maclaren," who had been so long enshrined in the hearts of Americans that all that remained to be done was to voice the universal sentiment in bidding him welcome. And welcome he was, and thrice wel-

And welcome he was, and thrice welcome will he be when he comes again. It is good to be privileged to laugh and weep over the heart-stirring pages which bear the simple annals of Drumtochty folk, but it is better to see the man of Drumtochty himself, and to hear him tell, with infinite humor and tenderness, of the people whom he has brought almost as near to the heart of humanity as they are to his own.

Ian Maclaren loves his people well. That is why they are dear to all the Ian Maclaren loves his people well. That is why they are dear to all the world. As he himself is in sympathy with every phase of Scottish life and character, he draws each type with such marvelous fidelity, and such delicacy of touch that it bears the impress of universal truth. The undercurrent of human feeling is the same in any land and under all conditions. It needs land out the same in any land and under all conditions. It needs land and under all conditions. It needs no accident of environment to enable one to understand William Maclure, and Marget Howe, and Jamie Soutar, for it is an 'understanding that comes from the heart and not from the brain. So, when Ian Maclaren stood before the people vesterday, there was no sense people vesterday, there was no sense people yesterday, there was no sense even of novelty in the fact of his presence. They felt that they had known him always, and he looked and spoke just as he naturally would look and speak,—being lan Maclaren. He is as typical as the children of his heart and brain. The tall, strong figure and typical as the children of his heart and brain. The tall, strong figure and rugged face are essentially Scottish; the keen, dark eyes can soften into tenderest sympathy, or twinkle with the ironic humor that lies too deep for open mirth; the deep, resonant voice is made richer by the irresistible burr that clings to every Scottish tongue. He stands there quietly and talks of his people,—familiarly, as between friends, and occasionally he reads some peculiarly characteristic scene from "Beside the Bonnie Briar Bush," or "Auld Lang Syne." These glimpses are tantalizing in their brevity, for the "Auld Lang Syne." These glimpses are tantalizing in their brevity, for the people of Drumtochty are living before you, and there are so many other scenes that would be as beautiful as these if read in such masterly fashion. You know the people of Drumtochty so well that you have fancied that Ian Maclaren would have little more to tell Maciaren would have lettle more to tell you about them, but, as he talks on, new beauties appear in familiar things. Subtle shades of feeling that have escaped you on the printed page linger in the cadences of the deep, quiet tones; in the cadences of the deep, quiet tones; the pathos is tender and more delicate, the humor is more quaint and unex-pected, and as you listen it dawns on you that you have suddenly been ad-mitted into the inner life of the Drum-tochty folk, and bhat, after all, you have had a mere bowing acquaintance with them, very cold and formal in the warmth of this sudden sense of the warmth of this sudden sense of fellowship.

In the afternoon lecture, Dr. Watson, without pausing for preliminaries, took his hearers with him into the Glen, and made them share in the life of the people. Next to religion, the Scot reverences knowledge, and so, from exquisite bits of character sketching of simple shepherd folk and their scholar son, it was easy to glide into a scene from "A Laddie o' Pairts," when Domsie rejoiced with Marget Howe and her husband over the triumph of their boy. Geordie lived only to win the honors for which he had been so lovingly prepared, but there was another scholar who did not die, and another mother who, on stormy winter nights, had kept a light in her window for her boy, so the story was told of the old people who waited in heart-breaking suspense for the letter from Australia which should bring news of the life or death of their beloved "professor"—told with such matchless beauty of expression.

for the letter from Australia which should bring news of the life or death of their beloved "professor"—told with such matchless beauty of expression that the people who listened, waited quite as breathlessly for Postie, although they knew that the letter would bring good news from a far country. Although he quaintly announced that Jamie Soutar had given him more trouble than any person living, the creator of Jamie seemed to find a particularly keen zest in dealing with the delightful cynic of Drumtochty. It seems that, although Jamie passes muster in his own sternly truthful land, certain American individuals, staggering under the burden of an inflamed conscience, have labored with Dr. Watson upon the subject of Jamie's doubtful morality, inasmuch as he did good by stealth and then lied most magnificently to keep from finding it fame. In apologizing for Jamie's one shortcoming, his friend sought to find an extenuating circumstance in the fact that this particular sin was not likely to become common, and even expressed the heretical doubt that sny alarming amount of mischief would result if it did. By way of atonement for Jamie's sins, Dr.' Watson heroically suppressed the most stiletto-pointed sador to France, the people over there and gave only the story of his secret, which is, incidentally, one of the most beautiful things in the book and his death-bed scene, surely the most cheerful and edifying in literature.

Jamie's most artistic lies were reserved for the evening, when the story of his finding and comforting the poor servant lass in London, was told as an illustration of the Scottish love of home. In this connection, also, came the pitiful tale of the departure from Burnbrae, and it is a matter of keen regret that there was no place found for the joyous homecoming, when all the Glen turned out to do honor to Burnbrae.

In dealing with Scottish traits, in the evening, Dr. Watson drew a series of masterly comparisons between the various forms of humor; the wit of the French, the fun of the English, the nondescript absurdity of the Americans, the drollery of the Irish, and the grim, ironic humor of the Scots. He himself appears to be quite at home with every form that humor can possibly assume, and this part of his lecture sparkled with epigrams and scintillated with illustrative anecdotes. It was so close-woven not a sentence could be omitted without injury to the brilliant whole, so those who were unfortunate enough not to hear it must wait until the mood strikes Ian Maclaren to publish a book on humor.

Last of all, and most lovingly, he took up the character of William Maclure. All that has been written of this doctor of the old school would have been too little to satisfy those who love him, and the man to whom the world is indebted for him was generous to his hearers. No words can describe the way in which Ian Maclaren tells the story of William Maclure: most people already khow the way in which lan maclarentells the story of William Maclure: most people already khow the way in which he has written of him. J. G. H., Los Angeles: In attempting to correct an article on gravitation, Mr. Wilshire makes a remarkable blunder himself. He ought to know that the reason the force of gravity is not felt at the center of the earth is not because it is not exerted there, but because it is exerted equally in every direction. A body at the surface of the earth, or wholly to one side of it, is attracted in the same direction by the whole of the earth's mass, and the attraction decreases as the distance from the center of the learth increases. A given mass is lighter at the equator than it is at the poles for two reasons, first, on account of the increased distance from the center of the earth, and, second, on account of the centrifugal force produced by the earth's rotation. J. G. H., Los Angeles: In attempt-

JOSEPH JACOBS, Los Angeles: Will you permit me to add a few words to the discussion as to the relative intensity of the earth's permit me to add a few words to the discussion as to the relative intensity of the earth's attractive force at the poles and at the equator? I desire simply to indorse the statement made by your "special contributor" in Sunday's Times with the statement of the contributer in Sunday's Times with the statement of the charge of disturbling the contributer at the poles which reside the statement of the charge of disturbling the charge at the poles than at the equator, and this of the poles, which opposes gravity at the equator, but also because the poles are nearer the center of the earth than the equator. While it' is true that the gravitative force is nil at the earth's center, the bare statement that this force decreases as you approach the earth's center for a distance of about one thousand miles from the earth's center. At these points the acceleration due to gravity is 36.02, as against 3.2.0 at the earth's urface. It's of course impracticable to offer a demonstration of these facts in the narrow scope of a letter, but they are all capable of rigid proof, and if your "regular correspondent," who seems ever on the alert to criticise, will but consult something beyond his elementary physics, he will discover his error.

CHEAP LIGHTS.

LOWER RATES RESULT FROM BAT-TLE FOR SUPREMACY.

Triangular Fight Between Electric Companies, With Allegations of Attempts to Fuse - The Cut to More Than Fifty Per Cent.

An electric-lighting war that has been quietly simmering ever since the first of the year has broken out openly now, and the consumers are all to have the benefit of the reductions.

In the confusion of the different reports it is difficult to obtain the true inwardness of the fight that is now on, but it exposure. inwardness of the fight that is now on, but it appears to an outsider that the great increase in the quantity of elec-tricity available in the city has led to great competition among the great competition among the electric ompanies.

The Los Angeles Lighting Company long had a virtual monopoly of the business in the city, but within the past few months the San Gabriel Com-pany brought to this city a curent generated by the waters of the San Gabriel River, and later the Edison Gabriel River, and later the Edison Company purchased the plant of the Southern California Power Company, and the electricity generated by that company by the waters of the Santa Ana River was also brought here.

The benefit of this competition was first felt by the public, when an all-night and every-night street-light

The benefit of this competition waifirst felt by the public, when an allnight and every-night street-light service was inaugurated at a trifle more than two-thirds the price which the city had formerly paid for lights run on moon schedule. This change came on January 1, the Los Angeles company making the reduction at the expiration of its bid.

About the same time, it is now reported, the various companies began quietly to grant reductions to consumers, and this has continued until yesterday, when the fight was made an open one. There are various statements as to the cause of this last move, one company intimating that there are combinations among the other companies, though each denies that it is a party to any agreement or desires such a compact.

A L. Selig of the Edison Company.

other companies, though each denies that it is a party to any agreement or desires such a compact.

A. L. Selig of the Edison Company, was seen last evening at the office of that company, and he made the following statement: "When the San Gabriel Company began operations in Los Angeles it stirred up matters here, and at once the Los Angeles company began to make overtures for a combination between the companies. Finding our company indisposed to enter into a combination, they threatened us with divers great evils, among others, to make it 'hot' for us. This had no effect on our company, and the Los Angeles company then began making all sorts of propositions to our consumers. Then came the acute condition which has now broken out company and the Los Angeles company thought that instead of being forced into a combination, it would make a great big reduction. It is all nonsense about there being a combination between the Edison and the San Gabriel companies, as some people are saying. When the Edison company was preparing to enter the city, it made contracts with a large number of people for a specific date, but was unable to get its plant completed in time to keep the contracts, and their business was turned over to us temporarily. That shows, of course, that there is a friendly feeling between the two companies. But since the Edison system. If there was any understanding or agreement between the two companies, there would certainly he no duribation of the same and the contracts when the two companies, there would certainly he no duribation of the contracts when the two companies, there would certainly he no duribation of the contracts when the two companies, there would certainly he no duribation of the contracts when the two companies are the two companies and the contracts when the two companies are the two companies, there would certainly he no duribation of the contracts when the two companies are the two companies and the two companies and the contracts and their businests there would certainly he no duriba the Edison system. If there was any understanding or agreement between the two companies, there would certainly be no duplication of plants. The Edison company would take on customers from the San Gabriel company as quickly as from the Los Angeles company.

tomers from the San Gabriel company as quickly as from the Los Angeles company.

"The cut which has been made is a heavy one. All companies have what they call a base rate, and discounts are made from that for various kinds of business. Before the cut the base rate of 15 cents per 1000 watts was discounted 33 1-3 per cent. for business houses, whereas the present discount is 70 per cent. from the base rate making the cost less than half what it has been. For residences, the discount from the base rate was formerly 20 per cent for $2 to $3 customers, 33 1-3 for $3 to $4 and 46 2-3 for customers whose bills run to over $4 a month. These discounts have also been greatly increased. The difference between residence and business rates is one which must exist in all cities, on account of the difference in the cost of the plant necessary for lighting the two classes of buildings.

"These rates apply to incandescent and arc lights. The Los Angeles company is not in the market for power, and consequently the power rates remain unchanged.

"A great many of our customers are "A great many of our customers are under contract with us at the old rates, but that makes no difference, for the company has decided that, not-withstanding the contracts, they will class of business to all customers."

From what can be learned, it appears that the fight is liable to grow much hotter before it is ended, and the minimum rates for electric lights is not yet in sight.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

The Bakersfield Californian issued an extra Tuesday evening at 8:50 o'clock. just fifteen minutes after the close of the polls of the municipal election, giv-ing full returns from all the precincts. Such enterprise ought to be, and doubtless is, appreciated by the citi-

A correspondent, writing from Phoenix. Arix., asks why the grain and feed men do not advertise. He says he wants to find somebody who han-dles oil-cake meal, and that he cannot find anything of the kind in the paper. The Times is unable to answer the conundrum.

An amazing number of cripples are developing in Arizona. Out of thirtysix men registered to vote at the municipal election by one clerk the other day in Phoenix thirty were cripples. This condition of things is one of the remarkable results of exempting crip-ples from paying a poll tax.

Nordhoff will have an athletic event tomorrow and Saturday such as it never saw before. The Interscholastic Tennis Tournament is attracting much attention throughout Southern California and participants are expected from the high schools at Santa Bar-bara, Ventura, Santa Paula, Pasadena, Redlands. Alhambra, San Diego and Los Angeles and from Throop Poly-technic Institute, Los Angeles Military Academy, San Diego Normal School and Santa Barbara Collegiate School, It will be surprising if the accommo-dations of Nordhoff are not taxed to their limit.

Ventura shows signs of a real awak-ening from the semi-comatose condi-tion in which it has been lying. At a well-attended meeting to consider ways and means for the development of the city, held last Monday evening, much interest was manifested, number of enthusiastic speeches were made and a committee to formulate a plan of action and report next Mon plan of action and report next Mon-day night at another meeting was ap-pointed. There ought to be enough live men there to overcome the moss-back element. If so, and these men will pull together, Ventura will soon begin to realize some of the possibil-ities which her location and surroundings afford. One would suppose that the car service between the center of the city and the Southern Pacific depot, which is a link between Los Angeles and the leading city of the State, would be first class, and up-to-date in every respect. So far is this from the case, that it is really easier to reach Pasadena from First and Spring streets than the Arcade depot, and people who want to catch a train are generally compelled to take a hack. This is the more re-markable, considering that the Los Anceles railway system is now owned by the same people who run the South-ern Pacific line. One might presume that the company was interested in that the company was interested in the hack business.

headquarters are to the effect that all the details for the real work upon the important enterprise are being arranged as was mapped out several weeks ago. Work of constructing the breakwater will be well under way just as soon as the festivities are over.

A squad of thirty police officers and twenty deputy sheriffs will be detailed to handle the large crowd weich will swoop down on San Pedro April 26, the day of the barbecue to be held there in connection with the Harbor jubilee festivities. Information has reached this city that large numbers of pick-pockets and other classes of "grafters" will be here about that time, and the authorities are making ample preparations to receive this class of visitors. President Charles Cassatt Davis of the Board of Education, who is the head of the Committee on the Literary Features of the jubilee celebration, is preparing the necessary letter asking President McKinley to touch the button which will start the work of harbor construction from Washington. An electric circuit is to be arranged which will enable the President, from his library in the White House, to give a signal which will dump the first rock for the big breakwater at San Pedro. The details have not yet been arransed, but it is expected that as soon as the Washington signal has been given there will be cannon firing in view of the multitude down at San Pedro, which will be taken as a sign for the rock to be dumped and the work of harbor building for Southern California will from that moment have become a reality.

The latest subscribers to the jubilee fund are: L. W. Godin, $5; Fowler & Coltwell, $5; J. S. Slauson, $25; Charles A. Keyser, $10; Morris Cohn, $10; James C. Kays, $5; a friend, $5; E. F. C. Since April 8 six people have been sent to the County Hospital, all suffering from mild forms of insanity, the latest being S. P. Wells, who had a room ing from mild forms of insanity, the latest being S. P. Wells, who had a room at No. 416 South Spring street. Yesterday forenoon a citizen called at the Police Station and informed Desk Clerk Gridley that Wells was in his room, where he was acting in an Irrational manner, and asked that he be taken in charge. Wells had his sixteen-year-old son in bed, insisting that he was sick, and it was feared that he might commit some violent act.

Policemen Richardson and Gorman were sent to the room, and on the way they were joined by Policeman Redfern. When they arrived Wells was excitedly examining his son's pulse, and insisted on the policemen doing the same thing, declaring that his son was dangerously sick. The policemen talked soothingly to the old man and induced him tog quietly to the Police Station under the pretext that they were taking his son to see a doctor. He was locked up pending the arrival of the County Hospital ambulance.

Wells and his wife were divorced a short time ago. They have two children, a boy and a girl. The daughter lives with her mother and the son has been living with his father. It is thought that brooding over his family troubles has unsettled Wells's mind.

Burglary on Olive Street. Monday night the residence of Mrs. M. Lott, No. 507 South Olive street, was entered by a sneak thief during her absence, and $100 worth of jewelry stolen. The matter was reported to the police, but it was kept quiet until yesterday, when it leaked out. Neither Mrs. Lott nor her neighbors would talk about the affair, as she was averse to having the matter become public.

A man will defend his honor with his life. What is more dishonorable than unnecessary failure? Thousands of men make failures of life and die premature deaths, leaving wives and children unprovided for, because of their reckless neglect of health. No man can do good work or be successful in business who suffers from biliousness, digestive and nervous disorders such as sick headache, giddiness, dizziness, drowsiness, cold chills, flushings of heat, shortness of breath, loss of appetite, fullness and swelling after meals, wind and pain in the stomach, costiveness, blotches on the skin, loss of sleep, disturbed sleep, frightful dreams and nervous and trembling sensations.

These are but the forerunners of some dread disease like deadly consumption, or fatal nervous prostration. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine for hard working men and women. It cures all cases of weak stomach, impaired digestion and disordered liver. It gives keen edge to the appetite, makes the digestion perfect and the liver active. It makes rich, red, pure blood and builds firm, healthy flesh. It builds new, healthy, muscular system, and invigorates and vitalizes the whole system. It induces sound and refreshing sleep, dissipates drowsiness and melancholy, and impartsmental power, elasticity and courage. It arouses the physical energies of the wholebody. It cures of per cent. of all cases of consumption, bronchial, throat and kindred ailments. All medicine dealers sell it.

Costiveness and biliousness. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure them. They strengthen and stimulate the overworked organs. They never gripe. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic.

J. Fuster Will Recover His $50 Fron Joerrimann-Two Brothers Charge One Another With

The ease with which an incorporated club can evade the recently-enected license laws is causing the city clubs that corporations can con-sume their own stock; that they can sell stock to whomsoever they desire, and that the possession of stock en-titles the holder to anything that the corporation has on hand. Just what will be done about the matter the means will be devised offset this advantage.

The Board of Fire Commissioners transacted only routine business yesterday, the session lasting less than half an hour.

A request is to be made of the Los Angeles Electric Company that it turn on its street-lighting current half an hour earlier in the evening, and extinguish the lights half an hour earlier in the morning, in order that there may be a shorter period of almost total darkness on the streets immediately after sunset.

A case has developed in the Long Beach Justice's Court where the evidence tended to show that two youths, Laub and Tisdale, had been incited to commit crime by a Polish junk dealer, the affair being brought to its culminating point under the direction of the police department, Now the boys are held under two charges of burglary, and two charges of grand larceny.

The suit of J. Burpitt to recover $5050

Now the boys are held under two charges of burglary, and two charges of grand larceny.

The suit of J. Burpitt to recover $5050 from the Los Angeles Railway Company was knocked out in short order by Judge Campbell. Under the evidence, even of the plaintiff himself, the court held contributory negligence was shown.

J. Fuster, who for two years banked his money with a saloon-keeper friend on Main street; from whose safe $50 on deposit was stolen, is to recover the full amount under a ruling of Justice James.

AT THE CITY HALL. MAY EVADE THE LAW.

DOUBT AS TO THE RIGHT TO TAX CHARTERED CLUBS.

How Restaurants Might Be Benefited by Incorporating - Earlie Lighting of the Streets Desired City Asked for an Appropriation for the Teachers' Entertainment

Owing to the Sunday prohibitive fea nances, the charters of some of the in corporated clubs of the city promise become more valuable than any salo license could be, and there is almos certainty that the stock of some of these organizations will be watered t an extent that has never been known in the history of local corporations. The reason for the boom in these stocks and the great advance in the values of th charters is that those who own the liquors at all hours every day in the week without paying any license what ever. Another point not to be dispersed is that there seems to be no way under the law by which the city even by adopting another can reach these clubs, and they offe the present laws than even a drug store which lays in a stack of physilaw was being rigidly enforced in Ne York soon after the Parkhurst crusad and the Lexow investigation, the charters of long-forgotten incorporate of liquors and would dispense drinks it its members, making an "assessment' for each drink. If a stranger wanted a drink he had only to apply for a share of stock, and the "secretary" was always on hard to issue such shares at say 10 cents each. This entitled tha "stockholder" to secure a drink a that particular club whenever he wanted one, provided he had the price of, the "assessment." Scores of such clubs flourished throughout New York and the officers of the law could no clubs flourished throughout New York and the officers of the law could not molest them had they so desired.

The same plan could be adopted here, and in one of the clubs at least it has been adopted. There is an organization on Los Angeles street where a stranger can secure a share of stock at any time of day or night and on Sundays, and once securing it can be accommodated with booze to the limit either of his capacity of his pockethook. The courts have held that a corporation has a right to consume its own stock, whether that stock be whisky or anything else. The consumption of stock by shareholders is certainly consumption by the corporation, and if the shares of stock are made numerous enough and sold at a low price, there is nothing to prevent their being issued to any person. The restaurants could take advantage of this by incorporating and then selling stock with each meal ticket, such stock calling for whatever the holder might desire in the refreshment line. Some of those interested in the business assert that takey would then be able to dispense liquors without having to pay a license. The matter has been presented to City attorn that some way that will prevent he way that will prevent he exastons, even though the clubs have to be reached by legislation of another character.

THE CITY WILL ASSIST.

Request for Public Funds to Entertain Visiting School Teachers.

At the next meeting of the City Coun-il a committee from the Executive committee having in charge the ar-angements for the entertainment of the members of the National Educa-tional Association will appear and request that the city make an appropriaquest that the city make an appropria-tion for the fund to defray expenses during the time of the association's meeting in this city. The committee will consist of Messrs. Rule, Storey and meeting in this city. The committee will consist of Messrs, Rule, Storey and Silent. They will not make a request for any specified amount, but will leave the matter—of the amount of the appropriation to the Finance Committee of the Council. Judge Silent was in the committee-room of the City Hall yesterday and explained in part what is intended to be done with the money. He said it was the intention of the committee to make the entertalnment of the teachers as novel as possible, something that they could not have in other parts of the country, and therefore something that would lead them to long remember Los Angeles and this part of the State. Among other things it is intended to purchase the crop of some large orange orchard, and some day during the teachers' stay here to have an orange day, on which the visitors shall be taken to the orchard and allowed to pick all the oranges they desire. The act of picking an orange will be new to theusands of them. Another plan is to have a Chinese theater opened on one of the nights of the convention, and make it free to the visitors.

opened on one of the nights of the convention, and make it free to the visitors.

Under the charter the Council is permitted to appropriate $3000 each year for purposes of celebrations, and the Committee on Entertainment of the teachers will endeavor to secure as much of this as possible. Several of the members of the Council have signified their willingness to be as liberal in this matter as the condition of the city's finances will permit. The Free Harbor Jubilee Committee has made a request for a donation of $1000, and the matter is now in the hands of the Finance Committee and yesterday that while he would not oppose giving this committee something, he thought $1000 entirely too much. Asked what he considered a proper amount, he said $400 or $500. The committee will consider the matter at its regular meeting Saturday, and the committee which made the request will probably be present at that meeting.

At this season of the year the sun sets about 6:30 of cleck, and the time for this goal of the company that the lights be between sunset and extinguished an hour be had earlier, but they have expressed the opinion that the entire matter is with the company, and so long as the contract is lived up to nothing can be done. When Detective J. G. Goodman was called to the witness stand he stated that he learned from Matuzesski that he was going to drive to Long Beach, on Wednesday morning, starting at 3 o'clock. He took the train on the afternoon preceding and got the lay of the land where the crime was to-be committed, and on the Wednesday aftersmoon saw the Polish junk dealers wagon drawn up under the trees, and the owner, Laub and two colored boys lying down having a good time. Matuzesski watched his opportunity and spoke to the witness, telling him to get away until after dark, and Goodman thereupon made himself scarce. That night he, in company with the City Marshal of Long Beach, hid themselves where they could be cognizant of what went on, and finally swooped down upon the wagon just as the boy Laub approached it with a bucket in his hand. In the wagon there was a bicycle, harness, a saddle, and behind was hitched a horse, and other miscellaneous articles were piled in the vehicle. Laub had not been seen to handle any of the stuff save the bucket, but the bracelets were put on his wrists, and at a later date the youth Tisdale was also arrested. That night the detective and Matuzesski-slept-under the same roof, and the former while giving his testimony would not acknowledge that the actions of the latter in being accessory to the crime were other than of an ordinary and proper kind.

The plaintiff alleged that on August 27 of last year, the defendant company negligently ran one of its cars down Second street, and at a point between Hill and Olive streets ran into the wagon of the plaintiff. It was stated by Burpitt that he and a man named Wolfe were seated in the wagon, and when the collision took place Burpitt was thrown violently to the ground. His head was cut and his body and limbs badly briused, and he remained unconscious until taken to the Receiving Hospital. It was contended that Burpitt's nervous system had been so impaired, and his vital powers so affected that he can never fully recover from the effects of the injuries sustained in the accident. Indeed, in the complaint it was averred that as damages "$5000 and no less sum would compensate plaintiff for the great detriment caused" to his well being. The remaining $50 was asked as reimbursement for medical attendance.

The defense averred contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiff, and put witnesses upon the stand to prove that after the bell on the car

"DOC" CRANDALL'S CASE.

To Be Considered by the Supreme

Justices en Banc. A telegram was received by Earl Rogers, Esq., from San Francisco yes-terday, conveying the information that the submission of the "Doc" Crandall the submission of the "Doc" Crandall case on appeal in the Supreme Court, in which Mr. Rogers represented the defendant, had been withdrawn. This means that it not being possible to adjudicate the case in department, it will be heard en banc before the court. Crandall was convicted of the murder of a man named Bowman below Santa Monica, where both men and der of a man named Bowman below Santa Monica, where both men and some women of loose character were eamping on the beach. The fact that the points raised on appeal have been found impossible of settlement by the justices in department is in this particular case rather interesting, for at the trial exceptional pains were taken to keep the record free from error, and it was not anticipated that an appeal would be summarily disposed of in the court of last resort.

WANTS TO LEARN. A Youth Who Wished to Go-to-Ione

to Master a Trade. This morning a youth named Adolph Atwater will plead guilty to the charge of burglary, and will ask to be sent to the Preston School of Indus try for a term, instead of being sent o Whittier, during his minority reason for Atwater desiring to go to lone is that his term will be shorter and he will have a wider choice of a trade, and he professes himself as desirous of learning some trade thoroughly in order that he may be able to make his living.

oughly in order that he may be able to make his living.

The story told by Atwater, and which the law officers believe to be substantially true, is a rather sad one. He stated that he had been living at San Francisco with his father, but sickness came to the family, and he sought to make things easier by leaving home, and trying to earn his living. He couldn't get anything to do in the city and tried to beat his way on the railroad to Southern California. Being new to the business he had a hard time, but finally reached Fresno, where he gained a bare livelihood working in the vineyards. But when the work he was at gave out, his clothing was almost in rags, and in the ranch house he noticed a good suit of clothes. The temptation was too strong, and Atwater arrayed himself in the new suit and left the old one as a legacy behind him. For that offenese he was arrested, but the officers, upon satisfying themselves that the boy's story was correct, decided not to prosecute him but to send him back to San Francisco. But Atwater states that he was in as bad a plight as ever there, and after trying to get some steady work for two weeks, again started out to beat his way to Los Angeles. He arrived a little over a week ago, and in the interim has picked up enough to eat and sometitmes a place to sleep by doing odd jobs around some of the down-town rooming houses. But that was a precarious way of making a livelihood, and the boy stated yesterday with apparent truthfullness that he hadn't eaten anything for two days when he noticed a van being unloaded at the Southern Pacific track of small cases of tomatoes. He waited until the van drove off and then went into the car and took one of the cases of tomatoes, intending to feast at his leisure. But he didn't have the chance, for his action had been seen and he was promptly arrested.

A LEGAL TANGLE.

A Court Tried to Knock Out Its Own Judgment.

A decision was rendered yesterday in the Township Court by Justice James, in the suit of R. S. Compton against Hitchcock and Van Gorder, wherein his predecessor in office tried to reverse himself, but as it has turned out without success.

The record shows that the suit was The record shows that the suit was begun in July, 1895, and on August 15 the summons was returned with the affidavit of a Mr. Crawford showing service on Van Gorder. The latter defaulted and judgment was taken against him, but on motion of the polantiff the action was dismissed as to Hitchcock, In January of the following year Van Gorder put in an appearance in court, and made a motion that the judgment filed be vacated, and an order to that effect was made setting aside the judgment on Van Gorder's default. An answer was then filed by Van Gorder and the court proceeded to hear evidence at the time fixed, and finally, gave judgment different to the one previously entered. Two judgments thus standing, the contending parties were not unnaturally at loggerheads of a more emphatic character than before any judgment had been entered at all.

The plaintiff in the case has contended that the court had no authority to consider a motion to set aside a default judgment except within he ten days after the entry of judgment, as provided by law. The defendant on the other hand argued that inasmuch as there was a nonservice of summons, despite the fact that the docket showed that a proper return in that regard had been made, a motion to vacate judgment could be made at any time. Justice James holds that the latter contention holds good under the authorities only when the record shows a want of authority to enter a default. In the case in dispute the record entered was in order and clear for the first default judgment to be entered.

"The motion to vacate the judgment." says Justice James. "was made nearly begun in July, 1895, and on August 15 for the first default judgment to be entered.

"The motion to vacate the judgment." savs Justice James, "was made nearly three months after the entry of the same, and more than two months after the time fixed by law for the making of such motion had expired. It follows that the court acted without authority in hearing said motion, and that the order made thereon and the judgment subsequently entered are void and of no effect They may be ignored entirely or stricken from the docket."

nored entirely or stricken from the docket."
Having disposed of the second judgment thus summarily, Justice James srants the motion upon which the matter was brought before him. An order was made requiring Van Gorder to appear and answer concerning his property, the order reciting that a indgment had been recovered against the defendant and that an execution issued thereon had been returned unsatisfied. The court holds that the execution can only run against the partnership of Hitchcock & Van Gorder, whereas the execution as issued is directed against the property of Van Gorder; and Van Gorder has been required to answer as to his property and not the property of the copartnership sued. The order has therefore been discharged.

ing With the Saloon Business. The suit of Joseph Fuster against George Joerrimann to recover $30 which had been entrusted for safe keeping to the latter, and which was stolen while in his custody, was decided by the Township Justice yesterday in favor of the plaintiff.

The evidence in this rather odd little case showed that Fuster at various times during the past two years left with Joerrimann, who is proprietor of the Eureka bar on Main street, amounts of money aggregating $115. This amount was reduced afterward by payments to plaintiff by defendant of $35, leaving $80, the amount sued for, of $35, leaving $80, the amount sued for, to the credit of Fuster. The defendant averred that the money was stolen from his safe, along with about $300 of other coin, and denied itability on the ground that the deposit was a gratuitous one, and that he was obliged to use slight care only in its preservation and safe-keeping.

But the court holds that so far as appeared there was no contention that Joerrimann kept the identical money deposited by Fuster. For aught that appeared, it might be inferred from the evidence that the defendant exercised the right he undoubtedly had, and undoubtedly did, to mingle the funds with his own.

"The relation in which he stood to plaintiff." says Justice James. "was merely that of a debtor: plaintiff was entitled to demand and receive the sum of $80 in money from the defendant at any time he chose after making the deposit. This amount might be paid in any kind of lawful money, irrespective of the kind deposited. It therefore appears that defendant cannot claim the benefit of the section relating to a gratuitous depositary. He is indebted to the plaintiff with have Judgment as prayed for."

WHERE IS PORTER "AT?"

GEORGE W. DURBROW'S ASSAIL-ANT REMAINS IN HIDING.

Is Said to Have Spent Tuesday Night at the Home of a Friend in the City, and Yesterday Made Tracks for the Hastings Ranch.

The game of hide-and-seek between Wilson Porter and Police Officer F. M. Fowler, which was begun Wednesday afternoon, is still in progress. Thus far the sportive Porter, who is wanted by the police to answer the charge of wantonly and brutally battering Superintendent George W. Durbrow of the Salton Salt Works, has succeeded in avoiding arrest, although the officer who is after him with a warrant has driven him from one hiding place to take refuge in another.

It is known almost for a certainty that Porter staid at the house of a friend in the southwestern part of the city Tuesday night, where he took refuge as soon as he learned that his victim had determined upon his arrest. The friend alluded to, when questioned by telephone Tuesday night, denied all knowledge of Porter's whereabouts.

Officer Fowler, however, became so thoroughly convinced that Porter was being sheltered at this particular place that he proceeded thicker yesterday morning and demanded that the fugitive be surrendered. He was met with the protestation that Porter was not there. The officer was not convinced on this point, so he took counsel with his superiors as to the propriety of searching the house. He was advised that he could not make forcible entry on a misdemeanor warrant, and that he could not search the premises without the proprietor's voluntary consent. This was not forthcoming, so no attempt was made to invade the house in the bope of dragging the cowering Porter from his lair.

Later in the day it was learned on apparently good authority that Porter sneaked away from the home of his city friends and made tracks for the Hastings ranch near Sierra Madre, to seek shelter under the protecting wings of his rural friend. Charley Hastings, one of the gilded youths who have been fond of the society of the dashing C. Wilson Porter, late of New York. Under Mr. Hasting's hospital roof Porter will be safe from molestation by the police, as the country home of Mr. Hastings is outside the bailiwick of Chief Glass. Sheriff Hammel may take a hand in the game, however, and drag Porter from his latest hiding place. If it becomes known for a certainty that Porter is at the Hastings ranch the warrant swill be turned over to the Sheriff for service.

Although Porter has a few sympathizers among the haut ton who were wont to bask in his smiles because of his reputed wealth and ultra fashionable turnouts, the majority of his acquaintances condemn the assault on Mr. Durbrow and regard Porter's conduct in trying to avoid the consequences of hi smooth for him any more in Los Angeles.

The probabilities are that Porter is lying low in the hope that Mr. Durbrow will consent to a settlement out of court, as did Mrs. Banning in her suit for board and lodging. Mr. Durbrow, however, has yet shown no disposition to let up in the prosecution and forgive and forget the injury done him. Mr. Durbrow remains at the Van Nuys, where his wife has joined him. He is mending nicely, but still keeps well to the seclusion of his room on account of his disfigured counternance. There is some ground for the suspicion that Porter's friends have been in communication with the police and trying to make it appear to them that

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Botsford gave a charming dinner party yesterday evening at their home on Edgeware road. The rooms were handsomely decorated with roses, ferns, smilax and palms, and the dining-room decand paims, and the dining-room dec-orations were exceptionally beautiful and artistic. The centerpiece con-sisted of a cut-glass bowl filled with carnations and asparagus ferns. The mantel and buffet were banked with carnations and ferns, and around the room were potted palms and plants. The color effect in the dining-room menu was white and green. An elaborate menu was served. The guests were Count and Mrs. Jaro von Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Mossin. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Nevin, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Earl, Mrs. Clacius and J. Sidney Torrance of Pasadena.

Mrs. Elisha Crouch was hostess at a charming luncheon at the Van Nuys Tuesday afternoon, given in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Louis Tainter of Wisconsin. The table was handsomely decorated with yellow roses and maidenhair ferns. The place cards were in water colors of green and yellow. The guests were Mmes. George W. King, John McCrea, Ethan Chase Harry N. Chase, Augustus Pratt, Stephen Hubbell, Edward Tufts, J. Smith Briggs, Miss Catherine McCrea.

Mrs. A. P. Schwartz gave a children's party yesterday afternoon at her home on West Eleventh street, in celebration of the third birthday anniversary of her daughter, Phyllis. The decorations were carried out in white, light blue and green. Suspended from the corners of the rooms to the chandeliers in the center were bands of curled crepe paper, arranged in canoby effect. Long loops of ribbon and smilax half-covered the windows and formed graceful portieres between the rooms. Callas, roses and smilax were banked everywhere, on the plano, low shelves, bookcases, mantels and buffets. The early part of the afternoon was devoted to games, including a peanut hunt, string games and the donkey game. Prizes were won by Sedell Smith, Brownie Coulter. Sam Cohn, Gilbert Lappmann, Riffa Kinney and Gussie Cohen. Later e musical programme was rendered. Miss. Cornelia Brown, Miss Joseobine Schwartz and others contributing selections. At 4 o'clock elaborate refreshments were served in the dining-rooms. The table was also decorated with blue and white, and at each place was a tiny orange-wood basket tied with blue satin ribbons and filled with bon-bons. At the close of the afternoon's festivities the party gathered on the lawn, and was photographed. Later the guests will receive photograpms as souvenirs of a happy occasion. Baby Phyllis is a charming litte maid with rosy cheeks and curly hair, and she wore a dainty gown of pale blue, trimmed with ribbons and lace. Misses Blanche Baum. Eva Lachman and Eva Ream assisted Mrs. Schwartz in entertaining, Those present were Flossie Diamond, Lillian Diamond, Jeanette Solomyon, Dorris Kirshner, Phyllis Kirshner, Gussie Cohen, Edith Cohen, Nancy Willard, Leonore Zinnermon. For You to kead

"What puzzled me in the beginning was that I kept losing flesh without any cause for it that I could see. I had a little trouble with my stomach, too, and after a while began to grow weaker and to cough. The cough, I thought, would soon go away and cure itself, but it didn't. It grew worse, and then I began to spit up a peculiar looking substance. I never thought of consumption, but one day I had a hemorrhage, and then was frightened in earnest and did just what you would do. I rushed to the doctor. He was either too busy, or something else, for he didn't do me any good. I kept going on down hill, and the outlook was bad. Things took a different turn, however, when I heard of Acker's English Remedy for Consumption, for I took it, and it not only cured my coughing and spitting, but also built up my whole system. I took on permanent flesh, and today am just as healthy a man as you can find in a week's travel. You may be

You may be sure I always keep Acker's English Remedy in the house, and it is a good thing I do so, for one night my youngest child was seized with croup. That hoarse, wheezy cough was the first signal, and I fost no time in giving the poor liltle sufferer proper doses of this grand medicine. In almost no time the disease was under control, and my child was medicine. In almost no time the disease was under control, and my child was saved. I advise every parent to have a bottle handy all the time. It serves the same purpose in keeping croup out of the house that a good lock and key serve to keep burglars out. It is both an expectorant and a tonic. It cured me of consumption and my child of croup, and I know what I am talking about." (Signed, Hon. M. Hogan, picture frame manufacturer, 242 Center Street, New York.

POULTRY AND EGGS. It is seldom Indeed, that poultry and eggs are so dear in Los Angeles at this season of the year as they are at present. This week eggs are jobbing at 17 to 18 cents, and farmers who bring their eggs cents, and farmers who bring their eggs to the city—are getting 16 cents cash. Since the spring opened the price has not gone below 13 cents, and went that low for only a few days. While they were that cheap merchants put a good many in cold storage, and they are now being withdrawn and sold at 17 cents, making a very handsome profit in a month or so. If, as one merchant thinks, 100 cases a day are being taken out of cold storage, that supply will very soon be exhausted. Last summer the local market was dependent for several months in the main on eastern eggs out of cold storage for its daily supply. This year may be the same, Local eggs will hardly be cheaper again. When the drought developed, a year ago, and grain went so high, there being no great developed. gain. When the drought developed, a ear ago, and grain went so high, here being no green feed in the county, farmers, as a rule, would not buy ed for their poultry, but rushed the ens and small broilers to market so ealy that prices were very low. There he not half so many hens in Southern alifornia as there were a year ago, lence the light supply of eggs. The inter at the East was so hard and he spring its so late, poultry is not do. Hence the light supply of eggs. The winter at the East was so hard and the spring is so late, poultry is not doing well at all there. Advices reaching here are to the effect that it will cost much more than usual to lay eggs down here this summer. The usual cost has been 10 to 13 cents. It is thought that the low-down cost this year will run to 15 cents or even more. Should that be so, local fresh eggs will not be cheaper than they are now, and when the few in cold storage are gone the price will be higher. Poultry is affected as well as eggs by the cause assigned. There are few birds being sent in now, and prices range from $4$ to $7.50 per dozen for good-sized broilers up to large fat hens and young roosters. The big meat men of Kansas City and Chicago have been doing a good deal to supply this market with noultry. Carload after carload has been sent in. The birds come dressed, head and feet on, not drawn, and sell at 10 cents per pound for the least desirable old stock up to 20 cents for choice fat young birds.

FALL DRESS GOODS. The great najority of fall dress goods lines are open, and, what is more, are attractg good business—business which eaks well for the future, says the ool and Cotton Reporter, and leads speaks well for the future, says the Wool and Cotton Reporter, and leads dress goods agents to view the situation in a very hopeful manner. There are still some important lines to be opened to the inspection of buyers, but these are few in comparison with those upon which orders are being taken. It is a very pleasing sign that contact with buyers, far from lessening agents' confidence in the strong position of the dress-goods lines, but serves to make their remarks and actions more self-reliant. Early purchases have been of such a character and size as to add much to the buoyancy of the market; buyers are placing orders in a way that bodes well for a better business than has been done for some seasons.

It is a pretty good sign that things are tending in the right direction when there is an absence of grumbling and troublesome foreboding, and unless something unforeseen comes to the surface to disturb the equanimity of the trade, the next few months is calculated to bring about a more healthy condition of affairs in the dress-goods business than has been seen in some tirefty in line with the roseate expressions emanating from the majority of the dress-goods agents, still there are to many strong points to be considered in the weak points are entirely overbalanced.

Confidence is a very monacent.

Confidence is a very necessary adjunct to a successful business, and this requisite is very apparent, not only in the manufacturer and dress-goods agent, but also the jobber, the suitmaker and the retailer.

No one is beguiled into the belief that a "rip-roaring" business is to be done at the outset of the season, nor are fancy prices to be realized; the jobber and retailer will find that they are getting excellent value for their money, and will gradually increase the volume of their purchases; this impetus in the ordering will bring about whatever occurs in the value of goods.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS. AGAINST DEPARTMENT STORES.

The anti-department-store crusade is being vigorously carried on in Chi-cago. A permanent organization of the retailers was recently formed and several hundred names were enrolled in the list of membership. It is the pur-pose to associate the 50,000 retail mer-chants and their 125,000 clerks in mak-ing a common cause—agreeing to buy goods only from the members.

NEW YORK, April 12.—There was a wild rush to buy at the opening, and the specialties made large gains, part of which they rectived, while the railways, which had improved smartly, left off at about yester-day's figures. The rise of Americans in London—before—the—opening and the momentum of yesterday was responsible for the early excliement in the market. Call money ranged from 4 to 5, closing at the lower figures, and sterling exchange was strong throughout, demand sterling rising by the rapidity of the early advance induced heavy realizations, but a general tone of strength prevailed until the afternoon when some sharp recessions occurred. The killing of Americans and English navy officers in Samoa seemed to arouse apprehension in some quarters of further complications. Among the specialties' strong features were Brooklyn Transit, Consolidated Gas, People's Gas, Sugar and the Iron and Steel shares. Baltimore and Ohio issues, Norfolk and Western preferred and Northern Pacific were strong. Foreign houses were early purchasers but resold about half as much on the local rise. Some of the foreign purchasers were driven to cover early, owing to the commission-house demand, especially for industrials, because of a more liberal position taken by a number of shorts were activity in railroad bonds today, and while a few issues were shaded, the general average was slightly better on the day. Total salaes, $3,750,000. United States S advanced is in the bid price.

can Surety Company. Frank P. Flint, as trustee for the American Surety Company of New York, has instituted an action against D. W. C. Sawyer to have a certain deed declared null and yold, and to have it

It is alleged that in April, 1898, Sawyer and Arthur entered into a contract with the executors of the Stimson estate as contractors for the erection of the Douglas building, at the corner of Third and Spring streets. In order to secure the material men in supplying material and labor to the contractors, it is averied that Sawyer and Arthur, as principal, and the American Surety Company, executed a bond for $1600, and to secure the bond the contracting firm conveyed three lots at Monrovia to the plaintiff in trust and to hold until all claims were settled.

It is averred that on January 4 of the present year R. A. Sawyer, whose tate as contractors for the erection of all claims were settled.

It is averred that on January 4 of the present year R. A. Sawyer, whose father is the member of the firm of contractors, represented to the plaintiff that all claims outstanding had been settled, and thereupon the plaintiff deeded back to the defendant the Monrovia property. But it is contended now by the plaintiff that at the time when the representations were made that all claims had been satisfied, there were claims that were then and are now a liability against the American Surety Company to the amount of $223.21. It is averred that when R. A. Sawyer made the statement to the plaintiff about the settlement having been made, he was acting as agent for the defendant, and made the representation with fraudulent intent. It is now asked that the deed of reconveyance of the Monrovia lots be declared void, and ordered canceled.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

Lecture on Mental Hygiene by Dr. Frank Gordon.

Dr. Frank Gordon lectured in the college biological lecture-room yester-day morning on "Mental Hygiene." This was the last of a series of five lec-day morning on "Mental Hyglene."

This was the last of a series of five lectures given by Dr. Gordon, several of which have appeared in the Medical Journal. He said, in part:

"The functions of the mind are to store knowledge, think, feel and will. The storing of knowledge was a comparatively simple matter when man's environment was but a few miles in extent, and education was limited to the three Rs. Now, however, steam and electricity have enlarged man's sphere, and he must know each day all the happenings of importance on the globe.

"All people, pretending to be cultured, must have a knowledge of the rudiments of every science and ambitious institutions of learning must teach them. The student is only limited, as to the number of studies, by his ambition, and if he burns the midnight oil in the pursuit of knowledge the gallery cheers and cries bravo! Finally, he is awarded a diploma and dropped. Where? Into a Utopia of science and art. Rather into a struggle more severe than the one he has left.

"What does the student take with him into this struggle for a livelihood and preferment? A brain, whose convolutions are stored with a fund of technical knowledge, an impaired digestion, watery blood, flabby muscles and a serious and pessimistic disposition.

gestion, watery blood, hadden and a serious and pessimistic disposition.

"The above is a picture of mental overwork in schools and is not drawn from imagination, but from observation. God forbid that I should say one word against education, but I speak for a system that develops not alone the memory and reason, but the entire mind and body.

"In America every one is seeking admission to the ranks of the patricians. The qualifications are wealth and culture. After an American has finished his ten hours' grubbing for colusive dollar, he must spend the remaining time, well into the night, either in study or social enjoyment. If is useless to enjoin against this struggle for existence and position. It has always not in the struggle, but in a sensible preparation for it.

"A logical and well-informed mind is not the only requisite for success. A dyspeptic can no more endure a prolonged intellectual strain than he can excel in a rowing match. Digestion is the source of all bodily force, and the young should not be allowed by mental overwork, eyestrain, lack of exercise, and dietary errors, to derange this function.

overwork, eyestrain, lack of exercise, and dietary errors, to derange this function.

"I believe that every educational institution should have as a requirement for admission a physical examination nearly identical to that given for life insurance. It should be a care that the strong student keep his health and that the weak student improve his. Such a supervision will not only be of advantage to the student while in college, but will be a continual object lesson throughout life."

The next lecture will be by Dr. Milbank Johnson on "Disinfectants and Their Uses."

The forestry lectures tomorrow morning will be given by Hon. Abbot Kinney on "Forestry Preservation," Prof. O. P. Phillips on "Forest Botany," and A. H. Koebig of San Bernardino on "Forestry and its Relation to the Water Supply of Southern California."

Miss Stickney, traveling secretary of the W.C.T.U., gave a short address to the students at chapel yesterday morning.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy. Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

VILD MAN OF LAMANDA PARK AUGHT AND EXAMINED.

Sent Down to Los Angeles for Investigation as to His Sanity. Harbor Jubilee Committee Arrange for Floral Six-in-Hands.

PASADENA, 'April 12.—(Regular Correspondence.) Word was telephoned to the Police Station this evening from a store at Lamanda Park that a wild man was causing a commotion out there; so Constable Mannahan and Policeman Pinkham took their guns and sallled forth, prepared for a tussle with a desperate character. The people at the park said he had frightened the women by his strange behavior and had been seen to whirl around in the highway like a dancing Dervish; and that, moreover, he had a glare in his eye that foreboded evil.

The officers soon came across the man with the glare in his eye, trudging along in the middle of the road, He also had a paper collar in his pocket, but had no other stuspickuse belongings. He said he was going to Baldwin's ranch, but was proceeding in the opposite direction when overhauled. He gave the name of John Carr, and talked in a manner that led the officers to think him insane. Recorder Klamroth was called down and held a preliminary examination at 8 o'clock tonight. Carr claimed that he was not a vagrant, "for," said he, "I have a room at Mr. Nitenger's in Los Angeles, and how can aman who has a room be a vagrant." He said he had been working at Baldwin's ranch, driving mules. "They gave me three mules to drive, but only two of them were good, the other one kicked and my life was in danger, so I quit." Then he proceeded with a rambling story of his family affairs. He couldn't remember where he slept the night before, but when asked the had 'mever used a gun." He had every appearance of being 'cracked,' but harnless, and the Recorder sent him down to Los Angeles for examination as to his laughing like a abay, much pleased at the promise of having a buth, for which he had put in a request, thereby convincing the court that he was not a tramp.

sign ordinance requires that the advertising device to be displayed in front of a saloon must have the approval of the City Trustees. There is also an ordinance prohibiting the sale of liquor to intoxicated persons. The new ordinance fixing amounts of saloon licenses is silent as to the conduct of the places to be licensed.

It is expected that the present regulations will be maintained, and that other and more rigorous restrictions will be adopted. The prohibition of music in drinking places is being considered, and an effort is being put forth to devise proper restrictions for side rooms, rear rooms and other private rooms and to prevent gambling.

Assessments for the sewer lately laid on South Ocean avenue between the two bridges are now payable, and are liable to be delinquent any day. The Southern Pacific Company has requested Street Superintendent Lowman to make an official statement of the company's assessment for that sewer. From this fact, it is inferred that the assessment against the Arcadia Hotel property, which fronts on that portion of Ocean avenue, will not be contested.

The floral displays on the Arcadia Hotel lawn, in the Southern Pacific Park and in that portion of Linda Vista Park which has been improved by the city, are probably more attractive now than at any other time of the year.

BIG LAND SUIT.

An important case is being tried in the Superior Court before Judge Noyes, the plaintiff being Matthew Gage and the defendants J. J. Guenther, W. E. Atwater and O. H. Newman. The plaintiff seeks to obtain possession of $40 acres of land on East Eighth street, just west of the Gage Canal, in the city of Riverside, to which he has been awarded the title by the Department of the Interior of the United States. The title rests upon the desert-land act, and its jeopardy grows out of the alleged fact that Mr. Gage got water on the land a few days after the time prescribed by law had expired. The defendants entered and took possession of the land, which they still hold, claiming title upon the ground of homestead entry and timber culture claim. They contest the plaintiff. United States patent title was obtained by fraudulent representations. The contest has been waging for several years. Prominent San Francisco and Los Angeles attorneys are engaged in the trial of the case.

Big Expectations for the Year.

Lively Times Now.

OXNARD, April 12.—[Regular Correspondence.] Dr. C. Portius, superintendent of the sugar factory here, and also one of the directors of the Colonia Improvement Company, has just returned from an extended visit to Europe, where he has been thoroughly investigating the condition of the sugar beet and the best method of extracting the saccharine matter. The doctor claims for Oxnard and vicinity beets of a higher sugar percentage and larger tonnage per acre than the most favored beet-growing localities of Europe, and that there are few factories there as complete as the one here in Oxnard.

W. S. Pardonner, general manager of the Chino sugar factory, was in Oxnard the first of the week.

Extensive preparations are being made for a ball for the benefit of the fire company, on the 21st inst. It will be held in the sugar warehouse, the floor space of which can accommodate one thousand dancers. The railroads have made a rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip. Fersons purchasing tickets to the ball will be given a coupon entitling them to go through the factory.

A tour through the best fields Tuesday developed the fact that beets were looking exceeding with the planted, when the campaign opens in earnest.

The storerooms in the new brick block on Fifth street are now all taken.

Over one hundred business lots have been sold by the Colonia Improvement Company since Oxnard was platted for a townsite.

J. G. Hill of the Colonia Improvement Company will erect a two-store business block opposite the Plaza.

He held that severe winter pruning is no help, as it does not prevent new growth from taking the place of the old. The foliage of the tree is needed for protecting it from the heat of the sun. There may be some merit in severe summer pruning, as there will not be growth at once to take the water.

The meeting opened with a short business session, at which J. B. Arnold was elected secretary of the Executive Committee, and George T. Bruce was elected treasurer of the same body. The programme of the evening commenced with a piano duet, after which Judge D. K. Trask spoke on "Good Citizenship." He reviewed the history of the country from the time of the rebellion of the colonists against the rule of England down to the present day. In the earlier days of the country and until a few years ago, the history of the country, he said, had been that of good citizenship, but during the last few years the conditions had changed and good citizenship now meant more than it had before. The drift of Mr. Trask's address was argainst trusts and monopolies, and his idea of a way to avoid them was through education of the people to protect their rights and refuse to give franchises to private corporations. He said that trusts were based the same as were feudalism and slavery, i.e., on the labor of mankind, and that they were so adapted that a few could reap the benefits of the labor of the multi-tudes. He advocated beginning the reform at home by the city securing con-

He said that the party was a biaster of human hopes, and referred to the President of the United States as the agent of plutocratic and monopolistic combines of the country. The entire trend of his address, with the exception of a few sentences at the close relative to imetallism and free silver, was devoted to abuse of the present administration and its attitude toward the Philippines. He compared Aguinaldo to Washington, the Filipinos to the men who fought at Concord and Lexington, and said that the proud maxim set forth in the Declaration of Independence relative to liberty and self-government was remarks relative to the land-grabbers and Shylocks, who, Mr. Brue said, controlled Mr. McKinley. The speaker said, in reference to the saying that trade follows the flag, that this country could expect to export only beer and bibles to the Filipinos. He harped and shouted about the wicked and infamous policy of imperialism, and said it was caused by the demons of Wall street, who would, if they could, turn heaven into hell in order that they might mold the shining pavements of the New Jerusalem into gold dollars. Nearly two hundred persons attended the meeting last evening, and most of those who contributed to the musical programme were encored. The next meeting of the club will be held Wednesday evening, May 10.

Co. D Reorganization—Another Border Saloon.

POMONA. April 12.—[Regular Correspondence.] Co. D. N.G.C. held its annual meeting last evennig at Armory Hall. Forty-two new members are enrolled for the reorganizeu company. Physical examinations will be held next Tuesday evening. It is rumored that an application is to be made for a license from San Bernardinocounty to establish a saloon on Hoit avenue or First street, just outside the city limits, and in that county, it has raised a storm among the people in that section of the town, which will doubtless increase if there is a possibility of success.

The ladies who conducted the At Loanso successfully are now talking of forming a permanent art city. As meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon in the pariors of the Presbyterian Church.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

FATAL TERMINATION OF A HUNT

Sidney A. Martin, While Cleaning Charge of Shot in His Abdomen Minutes Later Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

about 11:30 o'clock yesterday morn ing whereby Sidney A. Martin of San Francisco received a fatal wound in the abdomen, dying about twenty minutes later. Mr. Martin came down from San Francisco several days ago to visit friends in this city, and on last Saturday, in company with Arthur Hezekian and Albert Lang, went up into the San Fernando Cañon on a hunting trip.

Mr. Hezekiah arrived in this city resterday with the remains of his riend, and he gave the following acunt of the accident: "We left Los Angeles Saturday morning for a hunting trip in the San Fer-and of a noming trip in the san Fer-nando Cañon, about eight miles from San Fernando, near the tunnel. Our camp was about three-quarters of a mile this side of the tunnel, and we eft there this morning about 8 o'clock drove into San Fernando, on ou home.

mile this side of the tunnel, and we left there this morning about 8 o'clock and drove into San Fernando, on our way home.

"We stopped in front of the postoffice about 11:30 o'clock wish the wagon, and Lang and myself were sitting on the sidewalk. Martin, who did not know his gun was loaded, was cleaning the firearm, which was lying in the bottom of the wagon. He was standing directly in front of the muzzle, and was cleaning around the trigger with a rag, when one barrel was discharged, the entire load entering his abdomen. He lived about twenty minutes and never spoke a word after the accident. "Dr. Allen and another doctor whose name I did not learn were immediately summoned, but they said that nothing could be done. The train came along in three or four minutes, and we put Martin on board and started for this city, but he died soon after starting. Dr. Allen accompanied us as far as Burbank, and then returned to San Fernando, saying he would send on a certificate of death.

"Martin was about 30 years old and was born in Virginia. His father and mother now live in Carrollton, Mo. He was married in this city about three years ago. He was employed by the Standard Oil Company in this city for eleven years prior to six months ago, when he moved to San Francisco, where his wife's parents reside, his home being at No. 1256 Eddy street; He leaves a widow and one child, a boy about 1 year old. He was a member of Court Occident, Independent Order of Foresters."

We are sorry that so many could not be properly served, but throngs will probably be thinned out somewhat today, and selecting can be done in comfort. Most remarkable that so many purchasers were apparently buying a six months' supply. Bills of $25 to $40 were quite common. What better proof is there that our styles are dainty and our prices reasonable?
